Arab League Official Says Order To Cease Fire Will Be Rejected by Them; Partition Shelving, Disbanding Asked

Truck Crash Hospitalizes Two Drivers

Operators of these two trucks involved in a crash about four miles north of New Paltz early Saturday morning narrowly escaped serious injury, judging from the impact of the collision. The drivers, Walter Coutant, 19, of New Paltz and Jay Riker, 24, of Haverstraw, were said to be in good condition at the Kingston Hospital this morning. (Ken Roosa Photo)

Chrysler, C.I.O. Will Go Back to Bargaining Table

Governor Sigler Says Both Sides Agree to Reopen Their Negotiations

Detroit, May 24 (AP)—General Motors Corp. today offered the C.I.O. United Auto Workers a wage increase in excess of six cents an hour according to reliable sources.

Detroit, May 24 (AP)—Gov. Kim Sigler announced today that Chrysler Corp. and the C.I.O. United Auto Workers had agreed to reopen negotiations on the 13-day old strike.

The governor came to Detroit to enter the ticklish strike situation.

His announcement said only that the two sides had agreed to go back to the bargaining table together for the first time since the walkout of 75,000 employes May 12.

Negotiations broke off a few hours before the strike began and had not since been resumed.

Sigler's announcement came on the heels of an announcement that the biggest General Motors Corp. local in the U.A.W.-C.I.O. had turned thumbs down on a strike against that firm.

Brannan Nominated to Be New Secretary of Agriculture

Saugerties Man Was Lost in Wilds

Nelson Van Bramer Is Recuperating From Shock of Incident

Nelson Van Bramer, 39 Elm street, Saugerties, today was reported recovering from the effects of shock and exposure which resulted of his becoming lost in the Adirondack Mountains for two days last week.

The Saugerties man was on a fishing trip with Dr. J. C. Crandall, also of the village, at Cranberry Lake last Wednesday when the two became separated, a friend reported.

Dr. Crandall was able to reach shelter after failing in his attempts to find his companion, it was reported, but Van Bramer wandered in the woods for two days without food nor a tent for shelter.

State Troopers of the area found the Saugerties man after noticing the glare of a fire he had made in the woods. He was treated by a doctor near Cranberry Lake and returned home Friday.

Franklin Street Pastor Is Elected Ministerial Head

The Rev. Stephen D. Conrad, pastor of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church, was elected president of the Kingston Ministerial Association during the regular meeting today at the Y. M. C. A.

Other new officers include the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, vice president; and the Rev. David C. Gase, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, secretary-treasurer.

During the meeting the group heard a talk on "The Church and the Press" by Richard Gruver, city editor of The Freeman.

Would Require Oath

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Rep. Landis (R-Ind.) proposed today that a non-Communist oath be required of management and labor negotiators.

Coloradan Is Successor to C. P. Anderson; Hennock Named to F.C.C.

Washington, May 24 (AP) — Charles Franklin Brannan was nominated today to be secretary of agriculture. He now is assistant secretary.

The president sent Brannan's name to the Senate shortly before it convened at 11 a. m., E. S. T.

Brannan, a native of Colorado, succeeds Clinton P. Anderson, who resigned May 10 to run for the Senate in New Mexico.

The President also nominated Frieda B. Hennock, a New York city lawyer to membership in the Federal Communications Commission. Miss Hennock was named to succeed Clifford J. Durr, who said some time ago he did not want the new term.

Miss Hennock, named for a seven-year term starting July 1, is the first woman ever appointed to the commission.

Dewey Holds Lead

Portland, Ore., May 24 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York held his lead over Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota today as late returns piled in from Oregon's May 21 presidential preference primary. With upstate ballot boxes locked up over Sunday, only the metropolitan Multnomah county area (Portland) finished up the unofficial tally. The count in 1,759 of the state's 1,861 precincts gave: Dewey 111,657; Stassen 102,419.

Says Car Was Damaged

Fred Trost of 49 Gill street reported to police that at about 4:50 p. m. Saturday his automobile struck a high bump on the road near 638 Delaware avenue, causing a radiator connection to crack and possible other damage. He told police he believed the bump was the result of a plumber digging a trench to run a service line across the street, and then filling it in without making it level with the street.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The position of the Treasury May 20: Receipts $94,621,088.61; expenditures $105,041,046.81; balance $5,076,383,150.02; customs receipts for month $21,458,952.76; receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $39,027,256,697.51; expenditures for fiscal year $31,299,158,274.41; excess of receipts $7,728,098,423.10; total debt $252,233,170,050.44; increase over previous day $2,102,102.50; gold assets $23,244,613,569.63.

Taft in Speech at Bard Hits Aimless U.S. Foreign Policy

Annandale-on-Hudson, May 22—Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, declared here tonight in a speech at Bard College that an aimless U. S. foreign policy is baffling the public.

Senator Taft, who spoke before an overflow audience of more than 600 persons, including a large delegation from Kingston and Ulster county, suggested a four-point program which he said would preserve freedom in this country and peace in the world. He also declared that the Democratic administration had wobbled on foreign policy.

Senator Taft was introduced by Dr. Edward C. Fuller, president of Bard College. Anthony N. B. Garvan, of the Social Studies department of the college, outlined the meaning of the Chancellor Robert R. Livingston Lectureship series, at which Senator Taft was the initial speaker.

At the conclusion of Senator Taft's talk, Dr. Fuller acted as moderator in a lively question and-answer period. All questions asked of the visitor were based on the foreign policy topic. No questions were asked about the Taft-Hartley law.

"We have been pro-Communist and we have been anti-Communist," Senator Taft said. "We have been pro-Zionist and we have been anti-Zionist. There seems to be no underlying principle by which we can judge the question of what our future policy shall be. We in Congress are as uncertain as are the people at large, for the President and the State Department have seldom given us

Italian Cabinet Is Sworn In by President Einaudi

Communists and Socialists Were Not Included in Posts; Premier Is de Gasperi

Rome, May 24 (AP)—The first cabinet of the new Italian republic was sworn in today by President Luigi Einaudi. Communists and fellow traveling Socialists were not included.

The new government is a coalition of the anti-Communist forces which won the April 18 elections, and is headed by Premier Alcide de Gasperi of the Christian Democratic Party.

An agreement whereby the anti-Communist wing of the Socialist Party got one of its men—Roberto Tremelloni—appointed a minister without portfolio to be the watchdog of Marshall Plan aid broke a deadlock which had held up completion of the cabinet list for 11 days.

The final hurdle was taken when de Gasperi appointed Sen. Giovanni Porzio of Naples, an Independent, as one of his vice premiers. He is to sit as a special representative of southern Italy, thus overcoming objections from that section that the cabinet was too northern.

The cabinet, as submitted last night, contains five new ministers and four members of de Gasperi's last provisional government who have new assignments.

The new ministers are:

Vice Premiers—Porzio, and Attilio Piccioni, secretary-general of the Christian Democratic Party.

Industry and Commerce—Ivan Matteo Lombardo, Socialist.

Posts and Telegrams — Angelo Jervolino, Christian Democrat.

Minister Without Portfolio — Alberto Giovannini, Liberal, whose special task will be consultation on Marshall Plan matters.

Those with new assignments: Tremelloni.

Treasurer and Ad Interim Budget Director — Giuseppe Pella, Christian Democrat, replacing Einaudi.

Defense Minister — Randolfo

Truman Speech Topics Are Given

5 Major Addresses Ahead on Cross-Continental Journey

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The White House said today President Truman probably will make major speeches on foreign policy, conservation and displaced persons on his cross country train trip in June.

Five major addresses are scheduled. The probable subjects for the other two speeches were not announced. One of them is to be before the 35th Division reunion at Omaha June 5. The setting suggests the possibility that it may deal with defense.

The major speeches will be at Chicago, Omaha, Seattle, Berkeley, Calif., and Los Angeles. Mr. Truman also plans many extemporaneous talks, mostly from the platform of the special train.

The President will leave Washington the night of June 3. He will speak at Chicago at 9 p. m. (Central Daylight Time) in the Chicago Stadium, June 4.

This and other major speeches will be from prepared manuscripts, all will run from 15 to 20 minutes.

The Chicago speech will be at the opening of the observance of the 100th anniversary of Swedish immigration into the midwest. White House officials indicated it likely will deal at least in part with the problem of displaced persons.

The other major addresses:

June 5, Omaha, Neb., before the 35th division reunion, 9 p. m. (Central Standard Time).

June 10, Seattle, probably in Victory Square, under auspices of Washington State Press Club, 1 p. m. (Pacific Standard time). This will deal with reclamation, conservation and public power.

June 12, Berkeley, Calif., at commencement exercises at University of California, 2:30 p. m. (Pacific Standard Time). This address may be on foreign policy.

June 14, at Los Angeles, under auspices greater Los Angeles Press Club, at Ambassador Hotel at 1:15 p. m. (Pacific Daylight Time.)

'Phony Peace' Over, U.S. Diplomats Say

Chinese Scientist Is New Premier of Chiang Leadership

Ex-Minister of Economic Affairs Received His Education in Canada

Nanking, May 24 (AP)—Slight, 59-year-old Wong Wen-Hao, rated China's leading scientist, was confirmed today as premier. He was President Chiang Kai-Shek's surprise choice.

The action carried the generalissimo over the most serious internal challenge to his leadership in two decades. But it is not timely to end the struggle for power building up within the government.

The new legislature, whose members forced Chiang to abandon efforts to retain Premier Chang Chun, gave Wong reluctant but obedient confirmation. The vote was 489 to 94. The legislature defeated a motion to require Wong to explain his policies to it.

Without a political machine or power of his own, Wong—who weighs less than 100 pounds—must depend on strong support by Chiang to enforce his program. He is expected to form his cabinet within two days.

Chiang's successful nomination of the Canada-educated geologist and former minister of economic affairs was a defeat for the Kuomintang (Government Party) group which sought to dictate the selection in order to control key ministeries.

But in the battle for power, factional leaders may use the legislature's new constitutional authority to vote Wong out of office if he disagrees with its policies. It is the view here that only a complete support by Chiang will permit Wong to do his job effectively.

Says Wong Well Fitted

The Generalissimo, in his nomination message, told the legislature Wong was well fitted to direct international cooperation, national reconstruction and acceptance of American aid. In an address, he told members of need for unity within the party.

Unless there is an end to factional disputes, he said "the Democratic government may fail and with it will fail the power of the Kuomintang."

Many had been mentioned as possible successors to ailing Chang Chun who resigned the premiership recently — but not Wong. Wong has been inconspicuous in China's political scene for the past two years, although he is chairman of the National Resources Commission.

Only yesterday, it seemed that the confused and prolonged attempt to organize China's first constitutional cabinet would be delayed further. Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, former head of China's military mission to the United Nations, reported he had rejected the post. Chiang offered it to him after talks with a number of prominent politicians who may or may not have been offered the job themselves.

Those included Wang Chung-Hui, author of the new constitution under which Chiang was elected China's first constitutional president; and Mayor K. C. Wu of Shanghai.

However, when General Ho turned it down highly placed sources said it represented opposition to Chiang from an unexpected source — the arch-conservative clique which so long has accepted Chiang's leadership.

Previously, outspoken opposition to Kuomintang (governing party) rule had come from moderate

False Alarm Is Rung

Another alarm in a series of false fire signals was turned in at 10:34 p. m. Saturday from Box 2251, East Strand and Abruyn street, the fire department reported. Police Officers Charles Hoehing and Walter Van Steenburgh, who were cruising in a radio car about two blocks away at the time, checked the vicinity but found no trace of the person who pulled the alarm. Police and fire officials offered no comment as to whether they are of the opinion that the numerous false alarms sounded here since the first of the year were the work of one person or group or are isolated cases.

Attitude of This Government Poor, Says Russian Statement

Washington, May 24 (AP)—American diplomats decided today that the "phony peace" in the cold war is over—that this is where we came in.

The East-West bickering apparently goes on unchecked after 20 days of crazyquilt diplomacy that sometimes gave rise to hopes that a letup was in sight.

Soviet Russia had the last word: "Clearly the atitude of the government of the United States is not conducive to progress in international affairs."

Tass, the Soviet news agency, put out this "authorized" verdict Saturday night in a broadside declaring the U. S. wrong on every issue "dividing this country and Russia.

American diplomats did not appear surprised by the Russian blast.

"We are now right back where we started," said one official familiar with U. S.-Soviet relations. He meant that the Moscow "olive branch," as some called it, had been withdrawn in favor of the familiar tar bush.

For the charges newly hurled in the salvo were the ones fired piecemeal almost daily by Moscow radio up to the time that "peace talks" first were mentioned nearly three weks ago. They find fault with American actions from Greece to Korea, from the time of Potsdam to the present.

So ends, apparently, the strange period of Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith's two interviews with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov; of Molotov's "peace talks" proposal, of Marshall's "show us" reply, of Henry Wallace's letter to Premier Stalin; of Stalin's answer.

The U. S. now has listed 11 major points of difference with Russia—points on which agreement, in the American view, has been blocked by the Soviets. Russia has replied that the Americans and the Americans only are at fault for the stalemate.

Both sides agree on only one thing: that a stalemate exists.

Who, if anybody, won the 20-day propaganda exchange? So far as opinion abroad goes, that will be argued for a long time. Most diplomats agree that the Kremlin's first blow was a powerful one. That was Russia's surprise announcement accepting what Molotov called Smith's invitation to talk over American-Soviet differences. Whether the U. S. rallied quick enough and hard enough remains a question.

So far as opinion at home goes, the Russians provided opponents of the Truman administration with fresh ammunition. Wallace, as third party presidential candidate, already has fired some of it. Republican elder statesman Alf M. Landon fired some more last night. He said in a statement that Smith-Molotov correspondence was "one of the outstanding diplomatic blunders of all time."

Building Is Entered

The building on Hutton Park was broken into sometime over the week-end, Max Oppenheimer, assistant superintendent of the Board of Public Works, reported to police today. He said that, as far as could be learned, nothing of value was taken from the building, which is used to store certain park equipment.

Hull's Memoirs Declare He Was Sure War Was Ahead

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Cordell Hull says in his memoirs that he was convinced by 1935 that the long-range policies of Germany and Japan pointed inevitably toward war, and that he began urging American rearmament on President Roosevelt at that time.

"We should let it be clearly seen," he said in one memorandum, "that, while not wanting to fight and having no reason for attacking any other country, the people of this country are not only not 'too proud to fight,' but given, certain situations, would be too proud not to fight."

"I also knew that * * * the diplomatic establishment of our government was no stronger than the military forces behind it. * * *

"When I came to the State Department I thought for a time, when talking to Axis diplomats, that they were looking me in the eye; but I soon discovered that they were looking over my shoulder at our armed forces and appraising their strength. Here, I came to fell, was the controlling factor in their acts and utterances towards us."

The former secretary of state's memoirs fill two large volumes, more than three quarters of a million words. It is the story of the rise of a Tennessee country boy to one of the highest jobs in the United States, a general history of the country for his half a century in public life, and a detailed account of its diplomatic affairs during 12 of the most critical years through which it has ever passed.

Hull frequently pays tribute to

29,200 Vehicles Were Registered Here Last Year

Total of $521,864 Was Taken in by Motor Vehicle Bureau Here

During 1947 in Ulster county a total of $521,864.08 was taken in by the Motor Vehicle Bureau, Deputy County Clerk Edgar J. Dempsey, in charge of the Bureau, announced today. Of that amount the net for distribution was $510,414.25, after refunds of $184.58 had been made and the deduction of $11,265.25 which represents the county clerk's issuing fee.

There was a total of 29,200 vehicles registered in the county, including all types.

The total passenger cars registered in the county was 21,831. There were 321 omnibus licenses issued; 4942 commercial licenses; 1013 trailer licenses; 61 dealer licenses; 424 suburbans were licensed and there were 372 farm vehicles licensed. Municipal vehicles exempt from license totaled 253. Motorcycles numbering 236 were licensed and there were four exempt motorcycles, operated by police officials.

Chauffeur licenses issued numbered 1,248 and there were 4,273 operator's licensed.

The income from motor car license sources in 1947 was:

Motor vehicles $499,127.91. Motorcycles, $791.50. Chauffeur licenses $5,494. Operator licenses, $6,296. Miscellaneous fees $10,154.67.

All Offices Will Close

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today ordered that all municipal offices will be closed on Tuesday afternoon from 1:45 until 3 o'clock during the funeral services for Alderman Paul A. Zucca, who died Friday night. Flags on all city buildings and property and those on Ulster county buildings in this city are being flown at half-mast today and tomorrow, also in memorial to Alderman Zucca.

Smith Funeral Held; Was Killed On Neversink Job

The funeral of Vernon R. Smith, 32, of Accord, who was accidently killed at the New York Board of Water Supply project at Neversink on Wednesday afternoon, was held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson. With many friends and former co-workers in attendance, the funeral was one of the largest in the area in recent years.

Representatives of the S. A. Healy Construction Company attended in a group, as did members of the Accord Fire Company and the Kingston and Kerhonkson posts of Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in Kingston, officiated at the services.

Full military honors were accorded at the grave in Fairview cemetery, Stone Ridge, by the DeLeo-Braunstein and Maier Post, V.F.W., of Kerhonkson.

Surviving besides his wife, who was Miss Mildred Breitenstein of Kingston, are a daughter, Linda; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Smith of Accord; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Doolittle of Stone Ridge;

Britain May Withdraw 40 Officers, if U.N. Efforts at Peace Are Turned Down

Evans Is in Cairo

New U.N. Commissioner Reaches Egypt and Confers

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The United States has appealed directly to the seven Arab nations to comply with the United Nations Security Council's cease fire order for Palestine.

Cairo, May 24 (AP)—Arab rejection of the United Nations' cease-fire demand was indicated today by an Arab League official. He said the Arab governments will advise the Security Council they are willing to cease fire in Palestine if the Jewish army is disbanded and the partition plan is shelved.

There remained the possibility of a temporary cease-fire while Arab delegates present their case to the council today.

The Security Council called Saturday for both sides in Palestine to still their guns by noon, Eastern Standard Time, today. The Security Council is meeting an hour and a half after that deadline. The Israel government announced last night its willingness to stop fighting if the Arabs would do so, too.

The United States and British governments appealed to Egypt today to abide by the cease-fire. The British foreign office said similar appeals went to other Arab states.

In London a government source indicated Britain will consider withdrawing her 40 officers serving with the Arab legion of Trans-Jordan if the Arabs turn down U. N. efforts at peace. Further shipments of arms could also be suspended.

(At Lake Success an Arab representative said the Arab countries will not agree to an unconditional cease-fire. Faris El Khouri of Syria, only Arab on the Security Council, declared the Arabs will stop fighting only if the provisional government of Israel ceases to function.)

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ahmed Kashaba Pasha said yesterday his government "will do our best to reply to the Security Council cease fire order within the requested 36 hours."

The Egyptian cabinet met yesterday and discussed the appeal without reaching a decision. Other Arab governments have not announced their intentions.

Harold Evans of Philadelphia, the U.N.'s newly appointed commissioner for Jerusalem, reached Cairo by plane today.

He conferred with Kendall Kimberland, Chase National Bank representative in the Middle East, who went to Jerusalem recently for the American Friends (Quaker) Service Committee to try to arrange a truce.

After a brief rest, Evans is expected to try to get in touch with Jewish and Arab leaders.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League, told newsmen in Amman, Trans-Jordan, earlier yesterday that he would not object to a truce in Jerusalem if disarmament is applied to both sides.

The Israeli government made its cease fire offer in Tel Aviv yesterday as Arabs in Cairo claimed an Egyptian mobile force had driven into Jerusalem during the day to join Arab Legionnaires attempting to smash Jewish resistance in the city.

The Cairo announcement did not specify the number of Egyptian troops involved in the reported drive into Jerusalem.

A Jerusalem dispatch said Jews and Arabs were fighting hand to hand in the Holy City, barely 300 yards from the church of the Holy Sepulchre. Withering Arab artillery fire pounded Jewish machine gun posts in Notre Dame Hospice, in the shadow of the ancient church.

An earlier dispatch from the Jewish sector of the city described Arab shelling as relentless but ineffective, with no position falling in 24 hours.

Two Americans Die

Two Americans died yesterday of wounds suffered in the bullet ridden city.

Thomas C. Wasson, 52-year-old U. S. consul general, died of bullet wounds received when a sniper shot him near the American consulate.

Taft in Speech

any information which they have not seen fit to make available to the general public."

Outlines 4 Points

The four points upon which Senator Taft suggested that our foreign policy should be based follow:

"First, a determination to preserve peace if consistent with the freedom of the American people.

"Second, consistent opposition to the spread of communism in this country and throughout the world.

"Third, the strengthening of the United Nations by basing it on principles of justice and willingness to abide by and enforce the decisions of an impartial tribunal based on international law.

"Fourth, a renewal of our faith in liberty, justice and equality as a foundation of free government and a determination to crusade throughout the world for those principles as the Russian Government crusades for communism."

Senator Taft said that an administration guided by these principles would be certain to preserve the freedom of this country.

"It can in all probability preserve the peace of the world," he added.

The senator said that foreign policy was peculiarly within the jurisdiction of the President, with Congress or a minority party playing a secondary role. He found justification for the European Recovery Program—which he said would impose serious taxation on our people and create scarcity and high prices at home—in the need for checking the spread of Communism on the theory that it would threaten the liberty and existence of our people.

The Ohio senator declared that the Communist problem was the direct result of our own policies. He asserted that neither in 1941, when we first extended lend-lease aid to Russia, nor at Teheran or Yalta, was it ever suggested that Russia give some assurance of cooperation after the war.

At Teheran, he said, we agreed to Premier Stalin's strategy of attack on Germany and at Yalta we agreed substantially to a Russian zone of influence east of what is now regarded as the Iron Curtain and gave wide interests to Russia in Manchuria, the best half of Korea, the Kurile Islands and the Japanese half of Sakhalin.

Senator Taft asserted that during the war we seemed to be dominated by a friendly attitude toward Communism and a complete inferiority complex to Russia. This, he said, resulted from the character of the national administration, with Henry A. Wallace considering Communism a form of democracy and the late Harry L. Hopkins extremely friendly to the Communist regime.

Communist were encouraged to support the Democratic candidate for President in national elections and to take over important labor unions, and were permitted to enter important government departments, even the War Department, and those friendly to Communism were raised to positions of influence, he said.

"In fact," he continued, "the government service acquired so many Communists that President Truman a year ago requested $50,000,000 in order to investigate and route them out.'

Senator Taft expressed the opinion that the only hope of lasting peace in the world lay in universal acceptance of the necessity of accepting decisions made by impartial courts set up to interpret a law of nations and said that the United Nations Charter could be revised to accomplish that result and the veto eliminated.

30,000 Workers May Strike, Silence Phones

New York, May 24 (AP)—The nation is threatened with a strike of 30,000 telephone equipment workers which a union official says would stop all phone service.

The threatened work stoppage "will affect all telephone offices throughout the United States," Dan V. Harris, fourth vice-president of the Association of Communication Equipment Workers (C.I.O.), said yesterday.

A dispute between the union and the Western Electric Company is the root of the impending walkout of W.E.'s installation division workers who handle telephone central office equipment.

Harris said the strike threat arose because the company has given a "flat rejection" of union demands for a wage increase of 31 cents an hour. He said W.-E. has not made a counter-proposal.

Harris said his union is conducting a strike vote by mail.

The company, a W.-E. spokesman said, is "always anxious to continue negotiations." Harris said negotiations were broken off last Friday after two weeks of meetings here which were held under a wage reopening clause in a two-year contract running until May, 1949.

Harris said most members of the union earn less than $1 an hour and the starting rate is 82 cents an hour.

Physicians Oppose Free Blood Bank Plan of Red Cross

New York, May 22 (AP)—The New York State Medical Society has set up its own program on blood donors and blood banks and is opposed to the American Red Cross free-blood-for-all plan.

The society ended its 142nd annual meeting yesterday, attended by more than 5,000 physicians.

One of a series of resolutions on blood banks said "there has been a feeling in the medical profession that the control and collection of blood and blood elements is gradually being taken out of the hands of the medical profession."

The House of Delegates of the society, representing more than 22,000 physicians in the state, recommended that the Red Cross plan for a nationwide system of blood banks be changed.

Under the Red Cross program, started officially in Rochester, N. Y., last January, blood is donated by the public, as in war-time. The blood is processed and sent to banks in cooperating hospitals. Anyone needing blood, plasma, or any of the blood products gets them free. The Red Cross bears the entire cost.

The society wants banks decentralized and kept under control of physicians in each county.

A society resolution said that "free service for all economic levels of the population is not compatible with established patterns of American life." The society urged that patients, when financially able, be required to pay for blood bank services.

Young Republican Unit Backs Dewey

Ranks Are Split Over Their New President, Morrie Slifkin

Schroon Lake, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—New York's Young Republican Clubs stood united officially today behind Governor Dewey's presidential campaign, but their ranks were split over their own new president.

Morrie Slifkin of Tarrytown was elected Saturday night, 119 to 94 over Charles Metzner of New York city, after four pro-Metzner delegations had been barred from voting on the ground their dues were delinquent.

Ruled out were Boonville, Whitestone, Kirkland and Sodus. The Sodus delegation promptly left the meeting.

No platform distinctions were drawn in the heated contest. Both candidates favored the organization's prime resolutions. These called for Dewey's nomination as the G.O.P. candidate and endorsed his plea for "firmness" in dealing with Communism internationally and keeping it in the open in America.

The state president automatically becames a member of the state executive committee.

Charles S. Hamilton, Jr., of New York city, retiring head, said Dewey's victory over Harold E. Stassen in Oregon's presidential primary Friday "clearly establishes his position as the leading candidate."

The two-day convention chose these other officers at the closing session:

Constance Wells, Glens Falls, vice president; Michael Ellis, Buffalo, secretary; Beatrice Wright, Auburn, assistant secretary; Anthony P. Savarese, Jr., Queens, treasurer; Clarence Buck, Horness, assistant treasurer.

William Groat, II, Queens, national representative; Mary Malley, Buffalo, co-national representative; Charles Steyer, the Bronx, eastern states representative, and Theresa Jamund, New York, co-eastern states representative.

Gould Gives Story

New York, May 24 (AP)—Alan J. Gould, Associated Press executive editor, said yesterday that perhaps the biggest news story in 100 years "is what is taking place in the world today." He made the statement on a special N.B.C. broadcast dramatizing the 10 biggest news stories of the past century as selected by A.P. editors. The program was in observance of the A.P.'s centenary. The 10 stories picked for dramatization were the Gold Rush and America's expansion westward, the war between the states, the Franco-Prussian War and establishment of the German empire, the Spanish-American War, Marconi opens a century of science, World War 1, abdication of Edward VIII, World War 2, Franklin D. Roosevelt and his era, and atomic energy.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 24, 1948

NEW CAMPAIGN STYLE

American politics has finally come up with something new. It's the off-the-record speech by a presidential candidate. The inventor and, to date, the sole possessor of this novel technique is Henry A. Wallace, who tried it out on a select few in Hollywood the other night.

Some of Mr. Wallace's backers gave a cozy little "private" dinner for 450. It cost the guests ten bucks a head. But the press couldn't buy, beg or bully their way in. No, Mr. Wallace was going to talk off the record. And apparently they were going to pass the hat for any change the guests had after paying for the victuals. For, according to one source, it was explained that the presence of reporters might inhibit potential contributors.

At about the same time some people in Mr. Truman's camp were complaining that a network had neglected to broadcast one of the President's speeches to the west coast. And in Oregon, Mr. Stassen and Governor Dewey were scurrying about, greeting school children, Indians and voters, and putting in about a 12-hour day to settle the question of how on-the-record can you get?

But Mr. Wallace seemingly was content to confine his opinions to a circle of intimates. Just what a candidate would have to say to 450 members of the general public that would be off the record is possibly something that only Mr. Wallace knows. But the idea has its intriguing aspects.

Perhaps as the campaign progresses, he will discard this noisy ostentation and concentrate on the unpublicized affairs.

This would save wear on all concerned. Mr. Wallace himself would not have to exhort or plead or answer embarrassing questions. He could spend his time reconvincing those who are already convinced that he is the man of the hour. The enthusiasm would be unlimited, and the effort almost nil.

Members of the press, who might otherwise be covering Wallace meetings, would have more evening at home. (Any leaks of information from guests at these off-the-record soirees could be dismissed as an unpardonable breach of manners, and ignored.)

The other candidates, of course, would be saved a lot of time. They would not have to read Mr. Wallace's speeches and answer them. They could concentrate on the one opponent who was still speaking for publication.

Last of all, the public would stand to benefit. More of their favorite comedy broadcasts would survive if Mr. Wallace withdrew from the frantic political competition for radio time. They could cling to the old belief that there are two sides to every question, without any public intrusion of a third point of view by Mr. Wallace.

In fact, the Wallace innovation might be so successful that it would influence our political history. Who knows but that a future candidate for President may have to declare himself on this matter as well as other burning issues—with the knowledge that he stands a better chance of election if he promises to play the black-tie and $10-a-plate circuit exclusively, and to keep all his political oratory off the record.

WILLKIE WINS

Philip Willkie, the late Wendell's son, has won his first victory in politics. He captured Republican nomination for the Indiana house of representatives from a veteran holder of that office.

As the defeated incumbent is 79 and Willkie only 28, their district may benefit by the change. While the present instance might be one of the rare exceptions, men on the verge of 80 are no longer receptive to new ideas. And we are living in a world where the United States must look at new ideas openmindedly, or it will be in trouble.

LEARNER TO EARNER

A sheepskin this year carries with it almost a job guarantee. Employment managers are combing college campuses, bidding for more workers and at higher salaries than last year. Candidates for June academic degrees in the Chicago area are being offered from $225 to $250 per month as starting pay for men, with women offered about $50 less.

If the seniors have been engaged in engineering, physics or chemistry as their major fields the pay is higher, with ten positions open for every qualified young person. Industry is interested in "promotable material", young people to be made ready for gaps in executive roles. Students who are war veterans, because of their maturity, are sought for such paid-in-training positions.

If tangible proof is needed that education pays, it can be found among the cap and gown crowd this year.

Maybe the trouble with Russia is not having baseball.

'These Days'

UN AND ISRAEL

The United Nations cannot dodge the issue that a war is going on in Palestine, that armies are marching out of Egypt, Syria, Transjordania, and other Arab countries. Supplies are being sent to the Arabs by Great Britain under existing agreements. Supplies are being refused Israel and the Arabs currently by the United States. If Great Britain is paying for her aid to the Arabs with American dollars without even a protest on the part of the United States, then this country is either an accessory to Great Britain's lack of neutrality or is being imposed upon.

This is a war. The United Nations can see that it is a war by reading the daily newspapers every day. They can see it in the photographs and the newsreels. There is no secret about this war. Yet, the United Nations has neither the will nor the power to stop the war. For what purpose then does the United Nations exist? Under its charter, war is its responsibility.

It can be argued that this war comes so early in the life of the United Nations that it is not yet ready to stop a war, just as the old League of Nations could not stop the Manchurian War, the Ethiopian War, the march on Austria and Czechoslovakia, and the general war of 1939-1945.

The United Nations is naturally not yet established. Its pretensions are beyond its abilities. That does not mean that the United Nations could not and might not become a parliament of states in time. It only means that during the organization period it has not achieved that position. The most that can be said for the United Nations is that it is trying to learn how to function under the greatest difficulties and without the support and enthusiasm of an important bloc of member states. It inherits the accumulated antagonisms of centuries among states that have not yet learned to trust each other.

The war between Israel and the Arabs complicates this situation because it forces the United Nations to undergo a test of authority and strength for which it is not yet ready. It is required to stop a war before it has organized to maintain the peace. It is required to police the world before it has succeeded in agreeing on how to build a police force. And yet, if war in Palestine is possible, it is possible anywhere.

As a matter of fact, there have been other wars since V-J Day but they have been of a new pattern for which there is neither a name nor a rule in international relations. For instance, the separation of Czechoslovakia from Western Europe was accomplished by the seizure of power by a foreign-controlled indigenous minority political party, similar to the seizure of Norway by Quisling. The difference is that Quisling was obviously supported by an army, whereas the army was not so obvious in the matter of Czechoslovakia. Aggression is definable when an army moves; it becomes a question of opinion when the same end is achieved by revolution, coup d'etat, or economic sanctions.

With regard to Palestine, the armies do move. They are obvious. Therefore, it is war. And it is the business of the United Nations to prevent wars from happening, and when they do happen, to stop them. This, the United Nations cannot do, nor can it stop the British from supplying the Arabs with arms. Therefore, the United Nations must admit impotence and appeal to all the member states to supply Israel with arms to counteract the British supply to the Arabs. But, to do that the United Nations might risk a British Veto which would create a worse impression of fatuousnes than Mr. Gromyko's two dozen or so Vetoes.

Therefore, the United Nations does not know what to do. Yet, if this war continues prolongedly, who can say that it might not grow into a general war? And once that comes again, the United Nations disappears. Therefore, those states which have recognized Israel should, on their own, provide arms to Israel against the Arabs as the only means of bringing this war to a termination without benefit to the aggressor.

That Body of Yours

OVERWEIGHT NOT SUSPECTED

Increasing in weight is, at first, a sign of health as it shows that the body is able to do its daily work on the food eaten and still be able to store some of the food away as fat in the body. Thus, overweight shows an economical body.

However, overweight soon becomes not a sign of health but a sign of ill health because it predisposes the body to some dangerous diseases—high blood pressure with heart stroke and brain stroke, and diabetes.

In the "American Journal of Digestive Diseases," Dr. Henry M. Ray, Pittsburgh, Pa., presents a study of the symptoms, metabolic (building up and tearing down of the body processes) abnormalities, sex differences, diagnosis and treatment of a series of 110 overweight (obese) patients.

In this series of cases, the patients did not consult the physician because of overweight but because of other symptoms in order of frequency—fatigue, nervousness, digestive disorders, muscle and joint disorders, headache, irritability, breathlessness in slight exertion. Examination showed these symptoms to be caused by menopause, liver and gall bladder disturbances, underactve thyroid gland, heart and blood vessel diseases, muscular and joint rheumatism, poor nutrition, anxiety and other emotional disturbances and skin diseases.

Despite this large and varied list of diseases present in these overweight men and women, most of the symptoms were caused by overweight — which meant that reducing the weight was the first and most important treatment. The next step was treating the emotional disturbances present by explaining the cause of the symptoms and the reasons for reducing the weight. These methods gained the cooperation of the patients in undergoing treatment.

The most important part of the treatment was diet and exercise. When the patients were shown how this reduced weight corrected and removed their symptoms, they willingly underwent the hardships of these two measures. In addition to diet and exercise, some cases were given drugs or gland extracts to reduce weight.

Overweight and Underweight

It has been said that weight is one of the clearest methods of knowing one's health. Send today for Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Overweight and Underweight," enclosing 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Not a Very Nice Way to Welcome a Newcomer

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington — Three prominent Republicans discussed a substitute for conscription the other morning over their bacon and eggs. They were: House Speaker Joe Martin, West Virginia's Congressman Mel Snyder and New Jersey's Congressman Frank Mathews.

Snyder and Mathews argued that defense dollars could be better spent to strengthen the National Guard and Reserve. The Speaker gave his blessing to the idea, but suggested also using a limited draft to prod recalcitrants into the National Guard and the Reserve.

"We already have a backlog of 10 to 12 million battle-trained veterans," Snyder pointed out. "Compulsory training would just increase the backlog."

What the country needs, urged the West Virginia Republican, is not a big draft but an efficient reserve program. America already has plenty of civilian minute-men, but lacks a program to keep them up to date and on their toes. Under peacetime conscription, masses of young men would simply march through the military mill and follow the steps of the wartime veterans back into civilian life—with no place to keep their military skills sharpened.

Rep. Snyder agreed that fresh blood must be brought into the program, but insisted that the best way to train recruits was through the National Guard and Reserve. For a fraction of the cost of universal military training, the same number of young men could drill once a week and familiarize themselves with the latest weapons, with specialized courses to train technical personnel.

Congressman Mathews agreed. He even suggested that military training be added to the curriculum of the public schools. But Speaker Martin and Snyder did not agree.

Possible G.O.P. Program

The Speaker favored a modified form of the draft, and, in the end, Snyder summed up a compromise program as follows: 1. Require all men between 18 and 30 to register; 2. Stockpile strategic materials; 3. Give the President authority to conscript men for the armed services up to the authorized level, making certain that the ceiling is held down.

"I can go along with that," agreed Martin.

As a final caution, he added: "We have to watch our defense program to keep it within the means of the country to support."

Note—After V-J Day, a far-reaching reserve program was drawn up by representatives of the regular Army, the Reserve and National Guard. Although this was approved by then Chief of Staff George Marshall and Secretary of War Robert Patterson, it has been wantonly neglected.

A total of 630,000 enlisted men signed up for the Reserve, but the Army hasn't even bothered to get in touch with them. As a result, more than 500,000 are expected to drop out this year. In addition, 278,000 officers signed up for the Reserve, but the Army has assigned only 38,000 to units. The others are merely marking time.

The conclusion seems inescapable that the reason for this gross neglect is that the Army wanted to build up its military might with peacetime conscription rather than use less glamorous manpower already available.

G.O.P. Should Help Wallace

If Henry Wallace neglects to enter a 3rd-party candidate for Congress in any industrial area, the Republican party will do it for him. This was the boast the other day of Cal Johnson, former Republican Congressman from Illinois.

Speaking privately to friends, Johnson suggested that stooges could be induced to run on the 3rd-party ticket for a $500 fee. On the strength of the national Wallace movement, they would cut heavily into the Democratic vote, he predicted.

After word of this private conversation got around, Johnson hastily explained that he was not speaking official Republican strategy. He admitted, however, that it wasn't such a bad idea.

More Troops to Alaska

Reports of troop movements to Alaska have been officially dismissed by the Army as "routine." Real truth, however, is that they are not routine. Of late the Army has kept only service troops in Alaska, but it's now reinforcing them with about 14,000 combat troops.

Though this is significant, actually it's about as effective as a good-sized Boy Scout troop on our only frontier which faces Russia. Limited housing facilities in Alaska, however, will not accommodate more.

Will Railroads Be Nationalized?

Story behind the unrelenting drive to settle the railroad dispute is that both sides are getting jittery about nationalization of the industry.

This is no longer the bugaboo it used to be. Inside fact is that management and labor spokesmen are worried over sentiment in Congress to leave the railroads under permanent federal control

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

"Too good is no good." So goes an old saying on the East Side of New York, and from the same East Side comes the story of Chicago, the pinochle player.

Chicago probably has the best pinochle mind between Avenue A and the Golden Gate. At a single sitting, he once won $16,000 for a backer named Schermerhorn, for which he got the usual 10 per cent. But that was in the days when Chicago was a newcomer to the coffee and stuss houses of the East Side. As of now, no man in his right mind will play him.

It isn't that Chicago is dishonest. He doesn't have to be. In fact, his scrupulousness is an East Side legend, and one of the reasons he is well liked by an army of loyal boosters.

But as a member of the klabiasch set once remarked, what does it profit a man if he gain a whole world of recognition and can't make a buck? And Chicago has been buckless for quite a while now. There have been weeks when his only nourishment was the coffee and strudel some admirer bought him.

Not long ago, he approached Schermerhorn for a small loan. Instead of refusing like a gentleman, the Dutchman began to bellow, "Why should I give ya dough? Whadam I, ya mudda? Go to do Morris Plan—dey lend dough."

Embarrassed, Chicago reminded: "I won sixteen thousand dollas for ya once, rememba?"

"Ya got what was comin', dincha?" yelled Schermerhorn. "I don't owe ya nuttin'. Take a walk, ya bum."

Chicago's face turned the colors of a Goldwyn ballet. He had never asked for money before, and to be humiliated by a man who couldn't remember two plays back was bitter tea. As the expert walked away, the Dutchman taunted, "If ya need dough, dig up a player. I'll still back ya."

This was supposed to be a joke, but nobody laughed. Jackie Fine, one of Chicago's admirers, came up to Schermerhorn. "If I'm Chicago," he informed him, "I spit right in yer eye."

That night Chicago didn't have room money, and Jackie took him home with him. "Ya can bunk in my place as long as ya wants ter," he told him. "Somebody should straighten out that fat Dutchman."

"Somebody probably will", said Chicago.

A few nights later, Big Tony and one of his toughies walked into the coffee house. "Don't get nervous," he said to the proprietor. "This is a friendly visit. Anybody want to play a little pinochle?"

"I'll play ya," said Chicago, "if someone'll back me."

"I'll back 'im fer five hunnerd," said Schermerhorn, "or five thousand, if ya feel like spreadin' yerself."

"Okay," said Tony. "Get up the five grand. I can't put up fer botha us."

"Ya get yer regular ten per cent," Schermerhorn said to Chicago.

The other players laid down their hands and crowded around the table. "I got fifty bucks says Chicago'll win," said Jackie Fine.

"Yer faded," said Tony, "an' if any other chicken-feed bettor wants to get down, I'll fade them too."

Chicago looked worried. "Take it easy," he said to his boosters. "Ya never can tell when th' cards'll get cold."

His fans paid no attention to this warning, and pooled $130 which Tony covered. "Like candy from a baby," said Jackie. "That fifty'll buy my missus the coat she's been bellyachin' about."

Chicago lit a cigarette. He seemed nervous. He looked at the faces of his friends. What he saw in them was complete trust and confidence. Suddenly he seemed to make up his mind about something and picked up the cards. From then on, he played like a machine—fluidly, flawlessly. He never once looked at his opponent. It was the old Chicago.

For a while, Big Tony seemed puzzled. As Chicago's points mounted, a look came over his face which wasn't pretty to see. When the game was over he said, "I pack in." Then he looked at Chicago and said, "Too good is no good—no good at all."

As Tony and his bodyguard walked out, Schermerhorn handed Chicago three fifty-dollar bills.

"I got three hunnerd an' fifty more," Chicago objected.

Ya get what I give ya," said the Dutchman. "Ain' a hundred an' fifty a good night's pay fer a bum like you?"

For some reason, Chicago didn't think it worth arguing about. He pocketed his money and left.

It was raining outside. As Chicago opened the door leading to the street, his skinny figure was silhouetted by the drop-light in the hallway. He heard a car start up down the block, and ducked back. As he did, he collided with Schermerhorn.

"Wait a minute," yelled Chicago, grabbing the Dutchman's arm.

His backer shook him off. "Take a walk, ya bum. Ya got what was comin' to ya."

As Schermerhorn stepped outside, Chicago flattened himself against the wall. A car whizzed by and a Tommy gun sputtered.

Chicago went outside and bent over the Dutchman. From the inside pocket of the dead man's coat, he withdrew a blood-soaked wallet with $12,000 in it. He carefully counted off $350 and replaced the wallet. Then he called the cops.

Jackie Fine told his wife about the murder when he got home. "It couldn't have happened to a nicer fella," he said.

Review of Primaries Shows No Indication of How Party Would Act if Only Two Men Were Running

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 24—Supporters of former Governor Stassen of Minnesota are saying what the admirers of Governor Dewey said after the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries that one primary with its headlines doesn't make a nomination.

Actually, the contest in Oregon showed the voters of that state almost equally divided and to say now that Stassen has been "eliminated" just because he failed to pass Dewey in Oregon is reminiscent of the comments made not so long ago that the New York governor was "out of it" because he didn't show up well in Wisconsin or Nebraska.

The truth is that generally the primaries merely divide up the regular Republican vote and are by no means an indication of how the party would feel if the choice were always narrowed to two men. The significance of the Oregon primary is that, with only two candidates in the field, the preference was given to Dewey over Stassen. In Ohio, with two in the field, Stassen lost also. In Nebraska and Wisconsin the contest was among several Republican contenders who split up the vote.

To win the nomination in either the Democratic or Republican party means a totally different kind of campaign than might be waged in the post-convention period. The pre-convention campaign takes in usually a substantial part of the persons who vote their own ticket regularly. It is to the regulars—and often this means the conservatives—that a nominating campaign has to be addressed.

Failure to observe this rule is what is losing the nomination for Stassen. He has planned his strategy wholly on the publicity appeal of a young progressive who differs with the old-line party voters. But to get a nomination a candidate cannot overlook the fact that it is the regulars who go out to vote every time and that they take their Republicanism seriously.

The primaries do not cover a majority of the delegates chosen. Hence the same kind of appeal that has to be made in states where there are large numbers of regulars voting has to be made in the other states where delegates are chosen by the convention system.

Stassen's chief mistake was made in Ohio. Entering the state of a "favorite son" is not always in itself bad tactics but the kind of attack made on a "favorite son" is something else again. The regulars in Oregon and elsewhere read about the kind of campaign made by Stassen in Ohio. The error made in Ohio by Stassen was in handpicking the labor-union districts and attempting to make capital out of the known fact that Senator Taft was the author of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

Mr. Taft may not be the choice of certain Republicans but he stands out as a leader of his party and as having earned the right to the courtesies due a "favorite son" as well as proection from the handpicked-district sort of attack which was waged against him by Stassen.

The former Minnesota governor is a young man with a future in politics. He is a good campaigner and will in due time make his place in the party. But he not only has hurt himself for first place this time but has aroused opposition for second place among regulars who dislike what he did in Ohio.

One may differ with these rules of politics but as long as the primaries do not select a majority of the delegates it is a condition and not a theory that confronts an aspirant to the nomination of his party. Curiously enough these rules obtain irrespective of party. They are the unwritten code of party politics which any veteran recognizes who has been through the mill of state as well as national conventions.

Perhaps the "favorite son" rule was originally derived from a sense of fair play in the political game and perhaps it means just plain tact in corraling second-choice votes by abstaining from an attack on a candidate among his own people. The rule, however, has been observed by most men seeking a presidential nomination from the time Abraham Lincoln won his first Republican nomination in 1860.

At this moment it looks as if neither Dewey nor Stassen will make the grade and this hasn't anything to do with the Oregon primaries. It's because the Republicans at their national convention will have stronger reasons for supporting other candidates.

Dewey and Stassen through their primary victories and Taft through his support in other states besides Ohio are not going to go into the first balloting with any group of delegates even within striking distance of a majority.

While the Stassen votes could hold the balance of power, the Taft and Dewey votes together are more likely to select the nominee on the final ballot. There is really no understanding at the moment between them but the plain implications of the pre-convention campaign line up Dewey and Taft on one side as against Stassen. This is much more the result of antagonisms unnecessarily created during the primary campaign than any natural alignment due to public issues.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Last October 5, Joseph Herzberg, the city editor of the New York Herald Tribune, made some pretentious remarks about the H.-T. and journalism in general. He did this on a broadcast as a guest artist of William S. Gailmor in New York. I have already told you that Gailmor is a thief, a slacker and a preacher of the Communist line and that for one mercenary reason he renounced his religion and for another, re-embraced it. I repeat this summary as station identification.

Herzberg seems to respect Gailmor as a journalist. Here we may have a clue to the ethics and politics of the city desk of the Herald Tribune affecting its news and editorial slant. If Gailmor is a journalist at all he is a journalist of a type which Herzberg would seem to me to be obliged to despise and oppose, not embrace.

"You know," Herzberg said to Gailmor, "a newspaper story is a weapon far more dangerous than any in the arsenal of the scientist."

That is a dramatic cliche of an ideology bloke and it doesn't mean a thing, but let us take him at his word and use it on him.

"And," the boy prodigy said, "the reader should be entitled to know just who and what are behind such a powerful instrument."

Still further, he said, truthfulness in reporting was the only consideration on the news side of the H.-T.

Well, then, Herzberg and Mrs. Ogden Reid, the publisher of the H.-T., can't blame me for striving to tell who and what are behind these "dangerous weapons" which appear in the Herad Tribune, and who decides which stories are not to appear.

Why should the city editor of the H.-T., which purports to be a Republican paper, lend the prestige of his office to a commercial show run by this pioneer promoter of the rape of Poland—this thief and renegade of the newspaper business I refer you to an exultant story by Gailmor's friend, one Arnold Blom, then employed by Marshall Field's thing, called P.M., in 1944. Blom said that when he and Gailmor worked on the radio desk of the New York Daily News, editing a five-minute hourly news summary, Gailmor got in his ideological licks and sabotaged the editorial policy of the paper.

Did Herzberg know this about his friend Gailmor's past?

I will say that, if he is nearly as smart as he pretends to be, he should have.

Repeatedly, since Herzberg revealed his friendship for the renegade, the H.-T. has suppressed "truth" in stories about him.

When, in the fall of 1944, I dug Gailmor's dirty record out of the police files and watched his squirming at the office of the old blue network to keep his job as a news commentator, first claiming to have no religion and then claiming to be devout, the Herald Tribune didn't tell the story. Perhaps they thought Gailmor wasn't big enough to be news, although they could have strained a point because he had been slandering their candidate, Tom Dewey, if Dewey actually was their candidate.

MONDAY

Damned if I know who the H.-T.'s candidate really was then or is today. Or which is really the H.-T.'s party.

Almost any way you turn you find politically queer people, un-Republican people, sounding off their ideology in the Herald Tribune.

Gailmor called Herzberg "Joe" and Joe called Gailmor "Bill" throughout their discussion of the higher meanings of journalism. But why didn't Joe ask Bill about

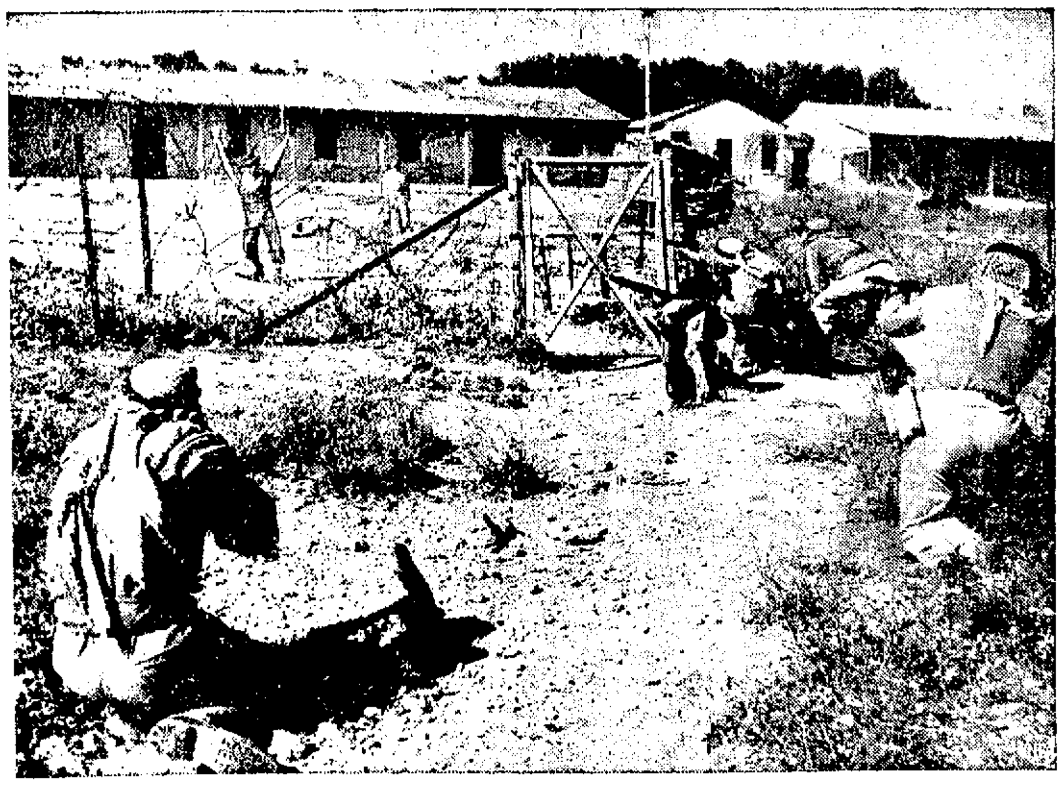
Arabs Capture Arab in Pictorial Fake



This is Arab make-believe warfare. The soldier at top left, about to be captured by the Arabs in the foreground, is really an Arab, too. He's dressed up like a Jewish Haganah fighter, strictly for the act. The Arabs then have the scene photographed, purporting to show them taking a Jewish prisoner. Actually, few prisoners have so far been taken by either side. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Artin Kamegsisian.)

if the Government has to seize them every time a work stoppage threatens. Three times in five years—1943, 1946 and 1948—the Government has taken over the industry to avert a nation-wide transportation tieup and some Congressmen are getting fed up with the seizure formula.

Both the carriers and the unions fear the results of nationalization. The industry would be run as a Government agency, as the Post Office Department, with no more taxpayer subsidies to guarantee profits, and the profits, if any, going to the U. S. Treasury. Management chiefs would become salaried, federal employees, subject to approval by Congress.

On the other hand, the railway Brotherhoods would be reduced to the status of Civil Service unions, with their right to strike automatically revoked, since the Taft-Hartley Act forbids strikes against the Government.

Merry-Go-Round

Most lobbyists work undercover. Not many ever write books about their work. One exception to the rule is Dorothy Detzer, long-time lobbyist for peace, who has just written a book "Appointment On The Hill." Miss Detzer had more to do with putting across the Senate munitions probe and passing the Army embargo bill than anyone else in the U.S.A. The Senate munitions hearings showed how U. S. munitions firms sold arms to the Nazis—a dress rehearsal for a policy already beginning today. Eleven colleges have picked Senator Arthur Vandenberg as their candidate for president at mock conventions, in spite of letters from the senator discouraging them. Barbara Ann Scott, Canadian queen of the amateur skating world, will be crowned queen of the Junior Chamber of Commerce by John Ben Shepperd in Philadelphia, June 3. Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorpe will soon resign.

Bill's work of sabotage at the Daily News? Or ask him why he didn't somehow get into the war instead of hanging around New York yelling for skinny little American schoolboys to open a second front and save the lives of Russian soldiers? I don't have to tell Herzberg that his furtive friend and sponsor is a physical giant and was only 34 at the time of the Normandy invasion.

Albert Maltz was one of those Hollywood hacks indicted for contempt of Congress. Most of us know why the committee asked them whether they were or ever had been Communists. Had they said "no" the committee would have produced evidence which would have caused consternation.

In this broadcast, Gailmor glorified Maltz as another Emile Zola. And, after building up Maltz, a defendant in a case involving the national security against Moscow, Gailmor turned to his old friend, "Joe," and they went to town in an exhibition of log-rolling.

Here some facts: Gailmor is a leading member of Henry Wallace's campaign party, raising the money at the meetings. Wallace is Stalin's candidate. The H.-T. tells us that Gailmor is campaigning with Wallace but doesn't give us a "truthful" story about him. Nothing about his dirty record. "Bill" cued off the riot in New York the other night in which the Communists created disorder against the anti-Communist movie "The Iron Curtain." The Herald Tribune ignored Gailmor's incitation to riot and was scooped on the riot itself. It ignored Wallace's responsibility for the riot, inasmuch as the incitation was uttered on the microphone at Wallace's meeting. Frederick Vanderbilt Field was one of the organizers of the campaign of the Communists against anti-Communist films. F. V. Field is the patron and an old Harvard pal of Joe Barnes. Barnes recently quit his job as foreign editor and boss ideologian of the Herald Tribune and went over to edit Marshall Field's thing.

Now if Joe Herzberg believes what he said about the atomic power of pieces in print and the importance of truth, don't you think a little reporting is in order about the stories that appear and don't appear in the New York Herald Tribune?

And who says aye and no—and why?

Freak Accident Kills Woman, Injures Husband

Carmel, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Alfred Trafton, 39, of the Ludingtonville section of town remained in "critical" condition at the Danbury, Conn., hospital today where he was taken folowing a freak accident which brought death to his wife.

State Police Sgt. John J. Lawson and Corp. Robert Sweeney of the Fishkill outpost of Troop K said Trafton was knocked to the ground and seriously injured by a strand of kite wire which became entangled in a tree on his property yesterday.

One end of the 200-foot strand fell across high tension wires in the vicinity, the police said, and the other dangled above the ground in back of the Trafton home.

Trafton apparently walked into the wire, the police said, and was knocked to the ground, carrying the wire with him.

Mrs. Trafton, hearing her husband's screams, went to his assistance and was knocked down by the charge. Mrs. Trafton's mother, Mrs. Rose Amatica, attempted to free Mr. and Mrs. Trafton but also was knocked down but not injured, the police said. She summoned neighbors who released the Traftons.

Mrs. Trafton was declared dead from electrical shock on arrival at the Danbury Hospital while her husband, unconscious, was given emergency treatment. A hospital spokesman said Trafton was suffering from electrical shock.

At the hospital, a spokesman said both Trafton and his wife were burned about the hands and arms but "not seriously."

Mrs. Amatica was treated by a physician at the Trafton home and did not require hospitalization.

Tires Best Bargain Says City Dealer

Brown Says Production, Competition Is Reason

Automobile tires at current price levels represent one of the bargains to be found on the nation's counter, according to one tire dealer here today.

"Despite sharp price raises in most consumer commodities, the motoring public up to now has been in the position of getting more value for its tire dollars today than at any previous time," Harris Brown of Brown's Servicenter, U. S. tire dealer said. "This is reflected in the current incredibly low prices of tires in view of rising manufacturing costs, and improvements in the product itself which have resulted in 40 per cent greater tire mileage."

"Two factors have made tire costs low, keen competition and tremendous production by the industry," said Mr. Brown. Last year the industry produced 78,000,000 passenger tires compared to a prewar peak output of 51,000,000.

In 1939 a 6.00x16 tire cost $15.50 and today it is listed at $15.25. The 6.50x16 lists at $18.50, or 35 cents lower than in 1939 while the third popular size, 7.00x15 sells at the 1939 price of $20.80. These three sizes represent the bulk of all passenger tire business. Other sizes list at the 1939 prices.

How long present tire prices can be maintained in the face of steadily mounting manufacturing costs is problematical, Mr. Brown said. He pointed out that raw materials such as cotton, which is used in tire cord, had risen more than 300 per cent in the past ten years. Likewise, the cost of carbon black, an important tire-building chemical, has gone up 189 per cent. Labor costs have also risen nearly 100 per cent. Other items such as coal, transportation and distributing costs have increased proportionately.

Snap-catches were invented in the early 1890s.

Odds Against Them

London (AP)—The Lancashire county public assistance committee debated long before deciding not to appropriate $1,048 in football pool winnings of six indigent inmates in a public institution. Then they found that the money had been spent, anyway.

New York, May 24 (AP)—The stock market took a breathing spell today and price changes were negligible.

The volume of trading in the forenoon hours was around the slowest pace of the past two weeks although more active than the average for preceding months.

Demand centered on selected rails and industrial issues, but neither buying nor selling became urgent. Erratic movements by individual stocks were widespread, with dips below and climbs above previous closing quotations.

Higher much of the day were General Motors, J. I. Case, American Smelting, Electrical & Musical Industries and American Telephone, all touching new 1948 highs at one time. Others ahead included: Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Railway Gulf Oil, Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet, Eastman Kodak and Paramount Pictures. Backward were Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, Western Union, Union Pacific Mission Corp., Sinclair Oil and American Woolen.

Bonds were steady. Commodities slumped, although there was some recovery over a sharp early break in cotton futures.

Labor Laws Will Receive Three Weeks of Scrutiny

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The nation's labor laws are up for three weeks of congressional scrutiny starting today.

The study of the Senate-House Watchdog committee set up under the Taft-Hartley act may lead to some changes. But few if any are expected this year.

The one proposal regarded as having a chance for quick action was at the top of the discussion list (9 a. m., E.S.T.) as the group headed by Senator Ball (R.-Minn.) opens its first public hearings 11 months after enactment of the Taft-Hartley law.

That proposal would eliminate a requirement that a union shop can be set up only if a majority of employes vote for it. Under a union shop, employers can hire anyone they choose, but workers must join the union later.

Senator Ives (R.-N.Y.) and Rep. Landis (R.-Ind.), both members of the joint committee assigned to study the whole field of labor-management relations, are sponsors of bills to abolish the union shop vote.

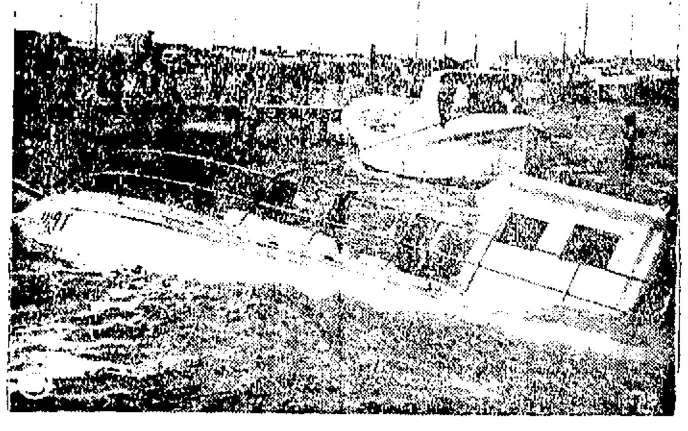
They were slated to testify first. Next on the list are Paul M. Herzog, chairman, and Robert N. Denham, general counsel, of the National Labor Relations Board.

Nearly all of the union shop votes have carried overwhelmingly. The argument against them is that they unnecessarily burden the N.L.R.B. which conducts the elections, and are a waste of money.

Ball told a reporter there is a possibility that Congress will act this session to junk the balloting procedure. But he said there is scarcely any chance for action on these other matters the hearings will cover:

1. Whether to clamp down against industry-wide bargaining.
2. Whether to change the Railway Labor Act to try to prevent another crisis in that industry.
3. What to do about union welfare funds, now restricted but still troublesome enough to the coal industry to have touched off the latest walkout of miners.
4. How to speed up N.L.R.B. machinery for handling unfair labor practice cases and representation elections.
5. Whether to outlaw strikes aimed at enforcing employers to agree to contracts which either violate the law or evade it.

TRAGIC END OF A FISHING PARTY



On its beam-ends but still afloat, the 41-foot motor fishing boat Squirt is towed into the Coast Guard station at Manasquan Inlet, N. J., after it capsized a mile out at sea with a large fishing party aboard. Two men were drowned; 31 others, including a woman, were rescued. (NEA Telephoto)

Funeral Held

GEORGE GARRISON

The funeral of George Garrison, 84, of Alligerville, who died Thursday, was held this afternoon from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, with the Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial took place in the family plot in the Benton Bar Cemetery, Kyserike, of which association Mr. Garrison was president for many years.

Mr. Garrison was one of the two oldest committeemen for the Republican party in Ulster county, having entered the post in 1902. Besides his active political career, he served many years as a forest ranger for the State Conservation Department.

Providence Man Gets 30 Days on Theft Guilt Plea

Fred O'Brien, 51, who gave his address as 38 Winthrop avenue, Providence, R. I., was sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster county jail after pleading guilty in city court today to the theft of a portable radio in this city.

In addition to the petit larceny charge, O'Brien was also given a suspended sentence of 30 days on a public intoxication charge, to which he also pleaded guilty.

O'Brien was arrested on Wall street Saturday morning by Patrolman Joseph P. Fallon, who had been following him after hearing complaints that he had been panhandling. When Fallon arrested O'Brien on a public intoxication charge, he noticed that his prisoner had an object concealed under his raincoat, Fallon reported. The object was found to be a $75 portable radio which had been reported stolen from the electric shop at 66 Crown street owned by John Liebert and Fred Reis, police said.

Reports Car Stolen

William J. Raftery, Jr., of Ulster Park reported to police Saturday night that his 1941 Plymouth sedan had been stolen from where he had parked it in Field Court. He said he parked the car there at 9:05 p. m. and it was missing when he went to get it at 11:20 p. m. Saturday. The car was locked and he has the keys and registration forms on his person, the police said. The sedan is grey in color, bears the license number 8D 15-85 and is valued at $1,300. Police informed the sheriff's office and state police, but no trace of the car has been reported.

To Go on Vacation

Albany, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Acting Governor Joe R. Hanley leaves today for a vacation in Muscatine, Iowa, where he spent his boyhood. There is "absolutely nothing political, either directly or indirectly" about the trip, he told newsmen. He will be gone about two weeks. Senate Republican Leader Benjamin F. Feinberg will be acting governor until Dewey's return Thursday from a campaign trip in the West.

Bail Is Forfeited

Two persons, arrested over the week-end by Patrolmen Charles Hoehing and Walter Van Steenburgh on charges of speeding on the East Chester street by-pass, forfeited bail by failing to appear in city court today, the police reported. Police said the persons were Joseph F. Sickler, 20, of Port Ewen, who forfeited $10 bail, and Alexander Watt, 45, of Albany, who forfeited $15 bail.

one sister, Mrs. Lloyd Barley of Accord, and several nieces and nephews. Smith was a nephew of Mrs. Victor H. Roth of Kingston.

Dr. Ralph Breakey, Monticello coroner, listed the death as accidental, and said Smith suffered four broken ribs, the right lung was crushed and the right auricle ruptured.

Dr. Breakey said that, as far as could be determined, Smith was working as a helper on a crane at Neversink and was crushed between the base of the crane and the counterweight when the crane turned around. The crane operator was unaware of the accident until after it happened, Dr. Breakey said, and there were no witnesses.

By DANIEL J. O'CONNOR

TODAY ONLY

Today I laugh at all my cares
The sun is warm and I am free...
I'm disregarding world affairs
And everything that worries me.
Today the earth is filled with joy
No toil shall claim a single hour
And once again I'll be a boy
With small concern for pomp and power.

Today I'll take my fishing pole
And wear a pair of wrinkled slacks...
I'm heading for the swimming hole
Where I can sit and just relax.
The sky is blue... the robins sing
And meadows wear a painted gown
Today I'll be a gypsy king
A dozen miles from any town.

The sun will burn my face and arms
And I'll be greased at ten tonight
But now I'm off for nature's charm
Today I will not even write!

Girl's Mother Says Teacher's Intent Was Honorable

Syracuse, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Donald M. Brown, 41-year-old Elwood, Ind., high school teacher had "honorable intentions" in relations with Verna Jean Parrill, one of his pupils, the girl's mother says she believes.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter, 38, who flew here from Elwood, expressed this opinion last night in an interview after visiting the pair at Onondaga County Penitentiary.

Mrs. Carpenter said she felt that Brown, accused by the F.B.I. of transporting 18-year-old Miss Parrill across state lines in violation of the Mann Act, "had erred in judgment" but that "he didn't really mean to hurt her."

Brown and Miss Parrill were arrested at nearby Ithaca last Wednesday by F.B.I. agents. Brown, who pleaded innocent, was ordered held in lieu of $5,000 bail on the Mann Act charge, and Miss Parrill was detained in default of $1,000 bail as a material witness.

The F.B.I. charged that Brown had abandoned his wife and four children and had been living with Miss Parrill.

Mrs. Carpenter described Brown, an English teacher, as "a very likeable fellow." She said she herself was in Brown's classes when she attended high school and "I always felt he was 'a fine type of person.'"

Miss Parrill, according to her mother, is "pretty much of a child in many ways" and highly interested in writing. Mrs. Carpenter said the girl took her portable typewriter with her when she and Brown disappeared early in April.

Miss Parrill, described by her mother as an outstanding student, had confided to a friend, Mrs. Carpenter said, that she was fond of her teacher.

Whether Miss Parrill will return to Indiana will be left entirely up to herself, Mrs. Carpenter added.

"Her well-being is my only concern at present," the girl's mother emphasized. She planned to arrange for release of her daughter as soon as possible and indicated she also would furnish Brown's bail if that were her daughter's wish.

Mrs. Carpenter said the only letter she received from her daughter since her disappearance carried a threat of suicide. She explained any action she would take in the case would be based on consideration of the girl's health.

Three Men Follow Old Trail to Coast

Canaan, Conn., May 24 (AP)—Somewhere on an old trail in the Harlem, N. Y., valley along the Hudson river, three Cape Cod, Mass., men today were riding horseback with far off California as their goal.

The trio, George E. Hatch, 35; Benn [illegible], 25, and Joe Lupo, 42, appeared here over the week-end with their five horses including two pack horses.

The horsemen left their Cape Cod homes last week.

George B. Hardenbergh, a Canaan free lance photographer, stumbled across the trio while they were resting their horses near here and stocking up on provisions.

He said the horsemen were reluctant at first to identify themselves but Hatch, serving as their spokesman, finally agreed to talk after exacting a promise from Hardenbergh "that he wouldn't take any pictures."

"Hatch told me," said the photographer, "that they were following an old trail leading to the west. They plan to cross the continent in easy stages and want to reach the Mojave Desert by autumn when it gets colder."

Hardenbergh said the trio and their horses appeared to be in good health and spirits.

"I asked them," said the photographer, "whether they were aware that there had been some stories in the newspapers about them but I received no reply."

EAT WELL For Less

Select Canned Meats for Picnic

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Before packing your food for the Decoration Day auto trip, take a look at the canned meat possibilities. Select foods that do not need refrigeration.

Potted Meats or Sandwich Spreads

Finely ground beef, veal, deviled ham, tongue, or liver blended with spices. Used for sandwiches and appetizers. To vary as a sandwich filling, add salad dressing or chili sauce, catsup, pickle relish, horseradish, chopped pickles, olives, celery, hard-cooked eggs, chives, green pepper or nuts.

Sliced Dried Beef

Carefully cured and smoked beef thinly sliced into uniform pieces. The most familiar way of serving dried beef is in a cream sauce. May be added to scrambled eggs or used in sandwich fillings. Spread with a tangy cheese filling, it may be rolled and chilled for appetizers.

Vienna Sausages

Ready-cooked, open-end sausage prepared by blending spices with quality beef and pork. Smoked over a hardwood fire for fine flavor. It may be served alone, either hot or cold. May be wrapped in bacon and broiled or heated in barbecue sauce. May be used for sandwiches.

Tamales

A seasoned meat filling wrapped in cornmeal mush. The tamale is packed in clean, sterile parchment paper and canned in a hot, spicy Mexican sauce. May be heated in a double boiler or in a pan over low heat. If desired, serve chili con carne as an extra sauce with tamales. (Parchment wrapping is removed before serving.)

Chili Spaghetti
(Serves 6)

One 6-ounce package spaghetti, 1 pound can chili con carne.

Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain. Turn spaghetti into casserole dish. Empty can of chili con carne over spaghetti; mix well. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Stewed dried prunes and apricots, ready-to-eat cereal, fruited coffee cake, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomato juice, creamed chipped beef on toast, enriched soft rolls, baked apples with cookies,, tea, milk.

DINNER: Chili spaghetti, mixed vegetable salad French-type crusty bread, butter or fortified margarine, old-fashioned strawberry shortcake, coffee, milk.

Needed Proper Podium

Philadelphia, May 24 (AP)—When Girard College officials prepared for President Truman's visit last Thursday in connection with the school's centennial exercises, they discovered they lacked the proper sort of podium. A hurried search produced a podium of the necessary dimensions and the President delivered his broadcast address on schedule. Then the borrowed podium was returned to the Union League—one of the nation's citadel's of rock-ribbed Republicanism.

Milk Producers To Get $4.66 Price

Blanford Forecasts May Return to Farmers

New York, May 24 (AP)—Milk producers will receive a uniform price of $4.66 a hundred-weight for May deliveries to pool-approved plants in the New York milk-shed, it was predicted yesterday.

A hundredweight contains about 47 quarts.

C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, forecast the May price. At the same time, Blenford estimated that the producer butterfat differential for May would be seven cents for each tenth of a pound of butterfat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Blanford said he based his forecast on a production estimate of 600,000,000 pounds for the month—an average daily output of 430 pounds for each of the estimated 45,000 milkshed producers.

The administrator directed handlers to submit reports to him on use made of their May milk receipts not later than June 10. On the basis of the reports Blanford will compute and announce the actual uniform price and butterfat differential not later than June 14.

Handlers are required to make payments to their producers on or before June 25, Blanford said.

Hull's Memoirs

the late president under whom he served as Secretary of State, but also cites incident after incident of sharp disagreement.

Roosevelt, Hull says, personally inserted the famous line about "quarantining" aggressors into his 1937 Chicago speech which had been prepared by the State Department. The resulting reaction among the "isolationists" he says, set back the administration's campaign for international cooperation by at least six months.

Hull, now living out his declining years at the Navy Hospital near here, devotes much attention to his relations with other members of the Roosevelt presidential family. Although he admired the late Harry Hopkins, several other New Dealers do not fare so well.

Hull blames Raymond Moley, and Roosevelt less directly, for the failure of the London Economic Conference in 1933, and recalls how he told Moley, before the final breakup: "You had better get back home. You had no business over here in the first place."

There is an entire chapter, plus many other references, devoted to Sumner Welles and the feud which developed because, Hull said, the under-secretary was constantly attempting to usurp policy-making authority or else trying to go over the secretary's head to the President.

Hull also accused Henry Morgenthau of having tried to step over into the diplomatic field.

TRADE MARK REG.

By Junius

A man and his wife got to talking about churches.

He: "Just how long is it since I've been to church?"

She began to cry and he tried to console her, but to no avail.

Wife: "You brute! You have forgotten our wedding day completely."

Man: "Now that I have a policy what will I get if my building burns down tonight?"

Agent: "I'd say about ten years."

Heard in county clerk's office: "If a man is not nervous while buying a marriage license, he will not make a good husband."

Memories of Home Sweet Home

Diner (To waitress): "Bring me some cold food. Burn some toast to a cinder. Fry two bad eggs and serve them on a dirty plate. Make the coffee so that it tastes like mud and bring it in a cracked cup so that it drips down my chin when I drink it."

In due time the puzzled waitress set the concoction before her customer, and asked:

Waitress: "Is there anything more?"

Diner: "Yes. Now sit down and nag me. "I'm homesick."

Happiness comes to a man when he finds the place where he can use his talent to make the world better because of his work.

Woman "Oh, Mary! "I'm so miserable. I caught my husband flirting."

Neighbor: "That's how I caught mine, too."

Common sense begins with a sense of time.

Today's Lesson

The secret of true happiness,
I'm sure you've noticed it, too,
Lies not in doing what one likes
But in liking what one has to do.
Frank Kiernan.

Josh: "How come you don't go with Toots any more?"

Amos: "Oh, I couldn't stand her vulgar laughter."

Josh: "I never noticed it."

Amos: "You weren't there when I proposed."

The minister had just finished with the wedding ceremony when the groom, a plumber, moved over to him and said in a low whisper:

Plumber: "I'm sorry parson, I haven't any money, but I can stop your gas meter from registering."

The [illegible] of Miss Doris Anne [illegible] of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], 186 Highland [illegible] to Robert A. West, 21 [illegible] avenue, Palisades Park, N. J., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander West, took [illegible] at 3 p. m. in the [illegible] Church of the Comforter. The Rev. Raymond J. [illegible] performed the [illegible] ceremony.

[illegible] Freelenburgh, organist [illegible] of the First [illegible] Reformed Church, played [illegible] wedding music including [illegible] to the third act of "Lohengrin," Wagner; Song of May by Borowski, selection by Nevin and the wedding marches. Miss Anita Kelse sang Because and One Alone. White snapdragons, carnations, palms and white candles were used to decorate the church.

Mr. Barnum gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of white satin was made with fitted bodice, marquisette yoke with satin bertha, and skirt terminating in a long train. She wore a flowered headpiece with fingertip illusion veil and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Nancy Barnum was maid of honor for her sister. She wore an aqua marquisette gown with pleated taffeta half hat and shoulder veil to match. She carried an old fashioned bouquet. The bridesmaids were the Misses Helen Barnum, another sister, and Helen Rowe. Miss Barnum wore pink marquisette and Miss Rowe, yellow. They wore pleated taffeta half hats and shoulder veils to match their gowns and carried old fashioned bouquets.

George Paragaris of Palisades Park, N. J. was best man. Robert Marx of Palisades Park and Alton Cole of this city were ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Comforter Hall, for 125 guests. The bridal couple left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. She wore a white gabardine suit with white accessories. They will live in Palisades Park.

Mrs. West was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed as stenographer in Guaranty Trust Company of New York, New York city. Mr. West attended Leonia High School and during the war served with the 86th Division in Europe and the Philippines. He is employed with Roway Overhead Door Co., Palisades Park, N. J.

Student Day at M.J.M. School

Several students acting in the capacity of principal, janitors and other key jobs, took over the control of the Myron J. Michael School Friday and judging from the reports, the young scholars did a commendable job. Shown in the above photo are some of the students who had the responsible jobs. Seated from left are Connie Perry, school secretary; and Marilyn Lamphere, principal. Standing in the usual order are Arlene Craw, roving reporter; Jim Mottsey, orchestra conductor; Janet Davis, attendance teacher; Brooks Vogt and Bob Schonger, the diligent maintenance men. (Freeman Photo)

C.A.R. Makes Annual Pilgrimage Saturday

Christopher Tappen Society, Children of the American Revolution, joined five other societies in the Hudson Valley Council for the annual Spring Pilgrimage Saturday. From the local group 21 members attended accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Empringham, Mrs. Clair Sheaffer, Mrs. Robert Herzog and Mrs. William Macgregor Mills.

The pilgrimage this year was made to Huguenot street, New Paltz. The boys and girls numbering about 60 in all held a picnic lunch in the historic church in New Paltz and later visited the old stone houses. Of particular interest was the Elting DuBois house, the Fort and museum.

Miss Norma Modjeska of Saugerties conducted the business meeting and Miss Betsy Empringham of the local group as secretary made her report. New officers were elected. Among the guests were the newly elected president, Mrs. Gilbert Van Auken of Delmar, and vice president, Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, Fishkill.

The council accepted the invitation of the Governor Clinton Society, Poughkeepsie, for the annual fall meeting.

Claudia Bouchard Has Party

Claudia Bouchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bouchard, 72 Van Deusen street, celebrated her 11th birthday with a party at Forsyth Park Thursday. Engaged

MARY MONFETT

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Mary Monfett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Monfett, 71 Abbey street, to John Genther, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Genther, Port Ewen. The wedding will take place in the near future. Mr. Genther served in the merchant marine three and a half years.

Personal Notes

Dr. and Mrs. Edward C. Fuller, of Annandale-on-Hudson, entertained at dinner Saturday evening for Senator Robert A. Taft, who spoke later at Bard College. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Howland Davis, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Freeborn and Mrs. Whitman of Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Garvan, of Bard College; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Walsh, of Red Hook; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gruver, of Hurley; and Oren Root, Jr., of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barton of 5 Guyton street returned Saturday after two weeks' vacation at their summer home in Hague on Lake George. While away they visited Burlington and other points of interest in Vermont. Mrs. P. J. Ross of Bruyn avenue accompanied them to Ticonderoga where she visited her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hinsdale and sons, Peter and Donald, of Delmar, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey of Highland avenue.

William P. Baker, 33 Montrepose avenue, has been elected assistant pledgemaster of Ithaca College Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity.

D. of A. Will Hold District Meeting

Annual district meeting of District 6, Daughters of America of New York, will be held Monday evening, June 7, at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street, at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Muriel E. Short, district deputy, will preside. Mrs. Ethel Rogers, state councilor, of Sparrowbush, will make her official visit at this time.

Preceding the meeting a banquet will be held at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church at 6 p. m. Tickets for the banquet will be on sale at the regular meeting of Vanderlyn Council, 41, Tuesday night or reservations may be made by calling Miss Matilda Hahn, 798-R; not later than June 1.

From the peaks of north Sweden, the sun can be seen continuously for six weeks.

M.J.M. Students Do Key Work as Council Project

Students had their "day" at the Myron J. Michael School Friday when the enterprising pupils reigned supreme over all the responsible jobs including the key position of the principal. The event, conducted by the Student Council, was another in the interesting and successful achievements held by the scholars of the junior high school.

Led by Marilyn Lamphere who held Clifford L. Rall's job as principal of the school, members of the council efficiently went about their various jobs throughout the school including school secretary, attendance teacher, orchestra conductor, maintenance operations and many others.

Preparations for the student's control over the school were completed Thursday during which time each class elected a pupil as a teacher for each period of the next day. At the same time the Student Council elected members of the group to act on the school staff.

They included Marilyn Lamphere, principal; Connie Perry, school secretary; Chris Rienzo, librarian; Janet Davis, attendance teacher; Joan Geschwinder, matron; Arlene Craw, roving reporter; and Alan Deegan, Brooks Vogt, Bob Schonger, custodians.

Smooth running of the entire school system was noticed throughout the day opening with the first period when the school orchestra was under the able direction of Jimmy Mottsey. The custodians were busy from morning until dismissal in the afternoon by sweeping floors, cleaning windows and doing all other types of jobs connected with their position in the school.

At noon time another surprise was in treat for the school in the cafeteria. The kitchen help, including Burt Ellis and Ken Barnovitz, concocted delicious cake, sandwiches and salads, which were greatly admired by the regular cafeteria workers.

A highlight of the student's control of the school was in the seventh period when Principal Lamphere called for a fire drill. The exit from the school was conducted in orderly fashion and the entire rehearsal was viewed as extremely successful especially in view of the fact that the scholars have not had a fire drill in some time.

Assembly was held during the eighth period during which time Jim Mottsey again conducted the orchestra in the opening and closing marches. He also directed the musicians in the playing of two other selections.

Following the group singing of popular songs led by Alice Millonig with Ramona Leonard at the piano, Arlene Craw, the roving reporter, presented a brief summary of the day's events.

All of the actual school officials professed much pleasure in the manner the school was run during the day. Few complaints were voiced by the students and the real teachers, while enjoying their holiday, felt confident of the students in charge.

COMMENCEMENT INVITATIONS

At this season of the year questions like the following run second only to weddings: "(1) Please suggest a form of invitations to send out from this small college. (2) Should the visiting card enclosed by the student include 'Miss' or 'Mr.' or should these cards be without titles?"

(1) There is no set form and each school follows its own established custom. The following examples are typical, however:

The President
The Faculty and the Senior Class of
. . . .
requests the honour of your presence at the Commencement Exercises on Wednesday, June 30th at 2 p. m.

Or

The Trustees and the Faculty of
. . . .
invites you to be present at the conferring of degreees, etc.

(2) Conventional visiting cards should include "Miss" and may have "Mr." by the time a man has finished college. If they do, however, it would be best taste for him to draw a line through the title before enclosing it.

Making-up in Public

Dear Mrs. Post: During a meal or at its end, is it permissible for a woman to use her make-up or should this be done in the ladies' room?

Answer: Repairing her make-up after the meal is permitted always. This means, however, no more than adding a dab of powder and a little lipstick. Never under any circumstances may a woman so much as let her fingers touch her hair while in a dining room or any place where food is eaten.

Invitation Not Request for Present

Dear Mrs. Post: I am intending to invite a group of ladies and their husbands to my wedding but not to the reception. These ladies gave me wonderful presents at a shower party and I fear an invitation to the wedding may make them feel that they should send me a wedding present. Is there some stipulation I can make so they'll know none is expected?

Answer: No one who is not a member of either family or a really intimate friend of the bride or groom need ever feel obligated to give a wedding present.

Do you know whether to say "Excuse me" or "I beg your pardon" when you have made an error? Mrs. Post has written a leaflet, E-15, "Manners in Public," which gives some rules for good manners. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her in care of the Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Congress May Go Into Summer if Squabbles Appear

Senators to Go on Extra Shift This Week on 'Must' Bills; May Recess

Washington, May 24 (AP)—A thick stack of "must" bills cast a dark shadow today over plans of Republican leaders to adjourn Congress June 18.

Senators probably will go on an extra hour shift this week and begin night sessions later in an effort to jam through a bundle of controversies.

But unless the lawmakers somehow can avoid the usual session-end squabbles, the best guess today is that they will be able only to recess for the Republican and Democratic National Conventions and then return to finish the job in Washington's hot and muggy summer weather.

Complicating the tightly-packed legislative schedule is a report that one top-ranking Republican Senator is carrying on an anti-poll tax bill around in his pocket. He plans to offer it as an amendment to any House-passed bill that affords any kind of peg for it.

That would be certain to cause a filibuster by southern Democrats to prevent enactment of any of the civil rights measures asked by President Truman.

The Senate planned to resume debate today on the annual farm appropriation providing more than $1,000,000,0000 for the Agriculture Department.

So far Congress has sent to Mr. Truman only four of the more than a dozen appropriation bills which have to be passed before the new fiscal year begins July 1.

Perhaps the most controversial of the money bills will be the one making available actual funds for the European Recovery Program and other foreign aid projects. These now are being financed out of Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds. The appropriation bill has not yet reached the house floor, where all money allotments must originate.

Other measures listed as "musts" by a top-ranking senator who declined use of his name include repeal of oleo taxes, the draft, a bill to admit 100,000 European war refugees during the next two years, extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act, tenure of members of the Atomic Energy Commission, Mundt-Nixon bill, requiring registration and reports by Communists and Communist-Front groups, a long-range farm bill, government pay increases, housing and a bill that would give states title to so-called tidelands.

Triplets Too Much For This Individual

New York, May 24 (AP) — Thirty-five children from four wives!

The father—68 years old—was so flabbergasted yesterday when his 34-year-old wife gave birth to triplets that he hopped onto a neighborhood child's bicycle and fled from newsmen.

French-born Anthony Dupre, former circus trapeze performer and now a hotel kitchen worker, is the man.

The father claims this record: Four sets of twins from the first wife—23 children from the second and third—and one from the fourth wife before yesterday's triple play.

Crows Not Informed

Someone neglected to mention to the crows that the U. S. Navy is an up-to-the-minute outfit. Two of the black birds recently attempted to nest on the radar platform of the cruiser USS Atlanta, apparently not understanding that Navy ships no longer have the old-time "crow's nest" at the masthead.

Two Are Honored

In order to give full recognition to the two inventors of the airplane, U. S. Navy records recently were changed to honor the memory of both Wilbur and Orville Wright in the name of the carrier USS Wright.

Dewey Will Speak At Montana Rally

Also to Confer in Idaho With G.O.P. Leaders

Salt Lake City, May 24 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York planned to leave today by air for Butte, Mont., where he will speak at a rally tonight.

Dewey and his party were scheduled to depart from Salt Lake City airport this morning. The New York governor planned a two-hour stop at Pocatello, Idaho, to confer with Idaho Republican leaders.

He spent yesterday afternoon and evening with Utah Republican leaders and "resting" from the rigors of his campaigning in Oregon.

At a press conference Dewey expressed delight at the results of his Oregon efforts, where he won a primary victory over Stassen. He said this contest was the best indication yet of the strength of the two presidential aspirants, as it is the first time the two have done a comparable amount of campaigning.

He commented that the third party of Henry A. Wallace will be only a "nuisance" to the Democrats.

Allentown Red Sox Scheduled for Colonial Opener Saturday

Muller, Crack Southpaw, Local Pitching Choice

The Allentown Red Sox, one of the better independent travelling teams in the New York area, will meet the Kingston Colonials in the 1948 semi-professional opener Saturday night, May 29, at municipal stadium.

Manager Joe Hoffman has nominated his ace southpaw, Warren Muller, former Eastern League pitching leader, for mound duty.

Pre-game ceremonies will feature the introduction of the new Colonial roster. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will toss out the first ball, a gift of "Pop" Fuhrman's Boy's Club.

First Three Games

Following the Allentown contest, the Colonials will meet the Jersey City Otto Macks on Wednesday, June 2, and Chuck Jamieson's Paterson Red Sox on Saturday, June 5.

The Allentown nine is expected to furnish a real test for the newly organized Colonials who will be appearing as a unit for the first time. They have played the best home clubs in the East for a number of years including Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Union City Reds, Kings Park, New Britain, Stratford, West Haven and other semi-pro strongholds.

Manager Joe Hoffman said this morning that the Colonial roster is just about set for the opener. Charlie Francello or Johnny Schatzel will start at third base and a shortstop selection will be announced tomorrow.

Wait on Lohrman

The Colonial skipper is waiting to hear from Bill Lohrman of New Paltz on the ex-Giant's status. Lohrman, a wartime Recreation favorite, has been signed for utility work but word from New Paltz is that he is readying a pitching comeback.

Meanwhile the Colonial pitching chores are in the capable hands of Muller, John "Whitey" Tulacz, the Poughkeepsie veteran, and Billy Windburn of the City League.

The probable starting infield quartet will include Fred Price at first base; Johnny Gentile, second; Francello or Schatzel at third, and a shortstop yet unidentified.

Steve Ristau, hard hitting ex-Recreation outfielder, is the outer garden bellwether flanked by Jack Kroh of Marlborough; Ralph Tiano and Tom Henneberry of the City League; and Bob Glanz of New Paltz.

Big Red Oarsmen Look at Hudson

Ithaca, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Cornell University's varsity crew pointed today toward the Poughkeepsie regatta with the Carnegie Cup in hand.

The Big Red, only undefeated collegiate eight in the east, pulled ahead of Yale just before the finish in the Carnegie Cup regatta Saturday on Cayuga Lake.

Stroked by Frank Collyer, III, of [illegible], the Ithacans covered the two-mile course in 10 minutes and 23.4 seconds. Yale finished in [illegible]. Princeton, Pennsylvania and Syracuse followed in that order.

Bob O'Connor of Mt. Kisco, stroke for Princeton, collapsed near the finish line.

Cornell rows against Penn, Princeton and Syracuse again in the Poughkeepsie regatta on the Hudson river June 22.

Yale captured freshman honors Saturday, skimming in two lengths ahead of Princeton. Cornell and Syracuse placed fourth and fifth, respectively. Pennsylvania did not compete.

Penn edged out Yale in the junior varsity event, with Cornell third, Princeton fourth and Syracuse last.

Carbondale Leads North Atlantic

(By The Associated Press)

The Stroudsburg Poconos battled their way into second place in the North Atlantic League last night by taking both ends of a twin bill from Nyack, 14-2 and 3-2.

The two victories put the Poconos only a half game behind the league leading Carbondale Pioneers, who lost a 21-16 decision to Nazareth. A scheduled second game was rained out.

Mahanoy City trounced Peekskill in the opener of another twin bill with the nightcap called because of the Sunday curfew law at the end of six innings with the score tied at 3-3.

Bloomingdale won both ends of a double bill from Lansdale, taking the first game 10-6 and the nightcap 10-2.

Demaret-Hogan-Turnesa Finalists in P.G.A. Tourney

By SKIPPER PATRICK

St. Louis, May 24 (AP)—Jimmy Demaret faced Ben Hogan and Claude Harmon took on Mike Turnesa today over the 36-hole route in the semi-finals of the PGA tournament.

Regardless of what kind of golf Turnesa, of White Plains, N. Y., could throw at Harmon, it couldn't be any rougher than Claude's 42-hole marathon with Sammy Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., yesterday.

The recent Masters champion won the duel—second longest in PGA tournament history—with a 25-foot putt on the 42nd hole.

Snead, who was six down through twenty-one, dropped out as his last putt—also a 25-footer hit the back side of the cup and bounced away.

Turnesa Surprises

Turnesa, one of seven golfing brothers, continued as a surprise of the tournament in beating Johnny Bulla, of Phoenix, Ariz., 6 and 5, with a four under par performance for 31 holes.

Demaret, of Ojai, Calif., and Hogan of Hershey, Pa., both native Texans, come through the quarter finals with brilliant performances.

Demaret showed the greatest game of the meet in beating George Fazio, of Conshohocken, Pa., 5 and 4, going the 32 holes in 14-strokes under par and with only two putts conceded.

He made the morning round in ten strokes under regulation figures a snazzy 61.

Harmon Needs Dough

Hogan, the 1946 PGA champion, built up a 5-hole lead over Melvin (Chick) Harbert, Northville, Mich., in the first eighteen and staved off a late enemy rally in the afternoon to win 2 and 1.

Harmon teaches golf during the winter at the exclusive Seminole Club in Palm Beach, Florida, and is summer pro at the Winged Foot Club at Mamaroneck, N. Y.

He has played in only three tournaments this year prior to the PGA.

"I've got a wife and three kids," Harmon explains, "and theres' more security in my two pro jobs than in playing tournament golf."

He adds, however, that he hopes to be around tomorrow for final settlement of the $3,500 PGA prize argument over the Norwood Hills Country Club course.

IN MEMORIAM . . . Death has cast its infinite shroud on three friends—three men who loved sports, two of them devoted baseball followers—all within the short space of a week. We mean, of course, Sam Riber, Paul Zucca and the lesser-known Charlie Marrello. All three died more or less unexpectedly after waging long, but futile battles to regain their health.

In addition to being an outstanding civic figure and a perennial standout in the Common Council, Paul Zucca was a great baseball booster. He was a member of the original Recreation baseball committee appointed by Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman and one of the motivating factors in the success of that organization. Paul served more or les as liaison man between the municipal government and the committee and quietly and effectively handled routine problems that later posed technical monstrosities for his contemporaries. At least it seemed that way to us.

The City of Kingston and baseball, in particular, will miss Paul Zucca.

• A Loyal Booster Passes:

Charlie Marrello, a native of Glasco, that sprawling suburb of Saugerties, was a genuine sports lover who took an almost paternal interest in our baseball and bowling career. He loved boxing, too, and never missed a card until his health forced him into virtual retirement. For a number of years he operated a flourishing tonsorial parlor with Frank Grimaldi. It was always a pleasure to walk into the barber shop for semi-monthly haircut and the once-over-light and talk sports with Charlie and Frank.

Marrello and Grimaldi were avid followers of John McCardle's Kingston All Stars and trailed them all over the Hudson Valley in the era of the Saugerties A.C., Millbrook Millionaires, Harlem Valley State Hospital, Red Hook et al. That was a baseball era.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Never-A-Dull-Moment-Department: The first four games in the City League produced among other items 43 runs, 48 hits, 35 walks, 24 errors and 45 strikeouts. . . . The frost-bitten, nervous swatters had a hectic time but the advent of real baseball weather should improve the situation. . . . Vince Clearwater rapped the first home run, a lusty wallop. . . . Judging off the first week's play, Morgan's and Jones Dairy will spread-eagle the field again, with Chez Emile a contender when the collegians arrive. . . . Three of the eight clubs are extremely weak. . . . Fielding gem to date belongs to Charlie Francello, the aging Wiltwyck Motors pilot. . . . Jackie Watzka still having trouble trying to control that curve ball. . . . Gate receipts were consistent and good.

According to Jake Chichelsky, the new arrival among sports columnists, the official softballs in the city circuit are Spaulding 1121, Reach 2121, Goldsmith 100, Wilson H-42. Any other type is strictly verboten!

• Of Men and Mice:

An editorial room visitor Saturday was Tony Rodriguez, the one-time Hercules Matador of professional pugilistic vintage. . . . Tony had just returned from a 10-day stay in Havana where he took unto himself a new bride and had an enjoyable time visiting with his former boxing cohorts. . . . Among them Rufino Alvarez, the Spanish heavyweight who once tangled with Big Bill Freeman, the National Guard heavyweight champion, in one of the bloodiest brawls ever witnessed in the local arena. . . . Alvarez attached himself to the right political party and is now a police sergeant in Havana.

Rodriguez also saw the immortal Kid Chocolate and his manager, Luis Gutierez, who made a fortune in United States prize rings but today are flat broke. . . . Chocolate receives a pension from the Cuban government and spends most of his time idling about. . . . Tony heard about Manuel Quintero but didn't see the crack southpaw personally. . . . Quintero, one of the most feared fighters of his time, is operating a gas station and living in moderate circumstances. . . . Tony Leto, another Kingston favorite, also lives on the island. . . .

Russell's 77 Wins Blind Bogey

Fabian Russell of Saugerties shot a net 77 to capture the blind bogey sweepstakes Saturday at Twaalfskill Golf Club, while five men shared the lead with 76s in Sunday's events which attracted the largest turnouts of the season at Alex Gerlak's layout.

Trailing Russell in the Saturday play were Walter Fitzgerald, N. LeVan Haver, Frank Campochiaro and James Dwyer.

The five 76s Sunday were carded by Ed Remmert, Dr. Douw Meyers, F. J. K. Ertel, Dr. McCaig and Dr. Rodney Ball.

With only one match remaining, the intra-club duel between the Cohens and Kellys is deadlocked at 12 points each. The match will be played Tuesday with the steak dinner served by the losers on Thursday.

The club pro, Alex Gerlak, has announced a two-ball foursome for Sunday, May 30. A buffet supper will follow the competition.

Speeding Along

Kicking up water and mud as they gallop neck and neck for the lead at Garden State Park, Camden, N.J., are, left to right, Player Lee, Musical Comedy and Gigolbury. At the end of a mile-and-an-eighth, however, it was Sarawak, left rear, the winner; Little Action, right rear, second, and Expeditious, 4, third.

Durocher and McCarthy Sizzle on 'Hot Seat' As Dodgers and Red Sox Flounder in Cellar

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

The managerial "hot seat" was sizzling today under Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Joe McCarthy of the Boston Red Sox.

Durocher's Dodgers struck rock bottom yesterday with a resounding crash that could be heard all around Brooklyn from Coney Island to the Gowanus Canal. They not only lost their eighth straight when they bowed to Cincinnati's Reds 6-5, but sank into the National League's cellar.

McCarthy's Red Sox were only a shade better off. A stunning double defeat dealt them by the tail-end Chicago White Sox dropped them into seventh place, only four lengths out of the American League's basement.

Both in the Spot

What makes the present plight of Durocher and McCarthy most unenviable is the fact that both found themselves on the spot at the outset of the campaign. Durocher, after a year's absence at the special request of Commissioner A. B. Chandler, took over a team which had won the National League pennant in 1947. He was figured to finish no worse than second.

Even more was expected from McCarthy, who had come out of retirement to direct the Red Sox. A mid-winter spending bee by Owner Tom Yawkey which brought such established stars as Vern Stephens, Stan Spence, Jack Kramer and Ellis Kinder to Boston, caused the experts to make the Red Sox pre-season favorites. Dubious persons who never gave McCarthy full credit for the Yankees' amazing success when Marse Joe managed the all-conquering New York teams, sat back with a "now we'll see" attitude.

Injuries Hurt Bosox

Misfortune struck McCarthy from the start. Tex Hughson, most reliable pitcher of Boston's pennant winning 1946 team, found that a pair of operations during the winter did not restore the old effectiveness to his pitching arm and he was shunted to the minors. Mickey Harris, another arm case, wilted after a good start. And Dave Ferriss, with no arm trouble to plague him, just hasn't had it thus far. Therein lies the principal reason for Boston's decline.

Pitching also has been Durocher's chief headache. Staffed by only eight pitchers including one on the hospital list, Durocher simply has had nobody he could depend upon to complete a game, let alone win it. Of the Dodgers' 29 games, only six have been route-going affairs.

Joe Hatten of Brooklyn couldn't hold onto a 5-0 lead yesterday as the Cincinnati Reds stormed from behind to kayo the California southpaw, and went on to hang the defeat upon Rookie Erv Palica. An eighth inning home run by Grady Hatton broke up a 5-5 tie. The win moved the Reds out of the cellar, eight percentage points in front of Brooklyn.

Pitching couldn't be blamed for the Red Sox' double dousing yesterday as late rallies gave the White Sox two 4-3 triumphs. Bob Kennedy's ninth inning single off Earl Johnson scored pitcher Joe Haynes with the winning run in the first game. Joe Dobson's wild pitch enabled Don Kolloway to score the winning run in the 10th inning of the second game. Haynes and Earl Harrist were the winning pitchers.

DiMag Hits Three

A record breaking Cleveland crowd of 78,431 saw Joe DiMaggio steal the thunder from its home town hero, Bob Feller, as the Yankees and Indians divided a double header. DiMaggio blasted three homers, his eighth, ninth and tenth of the season, to account for all his team's runs as the Yanks defeated Feller, 6-5, in the first game. With Don Black hurling Cleveland took the finale, 5-1. Ken Keltner, major league home run leader, hammered his 13th in the opener.

Dick Fowler and rookie Lou Brissie pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to within a half-game of the American League leading Indians by twirling 7-3 and 8-1 victories over the Browns in St. Louis.

Virgil Trucks walked pinch hitter Early Wynn with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to force in Gil Coan with the run that gave Walter Masterson and the Washington Senators a 1-0 triumph over the Tigers in Detroit. Washington made only four hits to six for Detroit.

The National League leading St. Louis Cardinals pounded six Philadelphia pitchers for 31 hits to win a doubleheader from the Phillies, 18-3 and 4-1. Scoring in every inning but one, the Cards collected 17 hits in setting a season scoring high in the opener.

Larry Jansen pitched a four-hitter to notch his fifth victory of the season as the New York Giants defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, at the Polo Grounds. Despite the victory, the Giants dropped a half-game to trail the Cards by three.

The Braves moved into a third place tie with Pittsburgh by downing the Chicago Cubs twice in Boston, 8-5 and 12-4.

Buffalo Keglers Lead State Meet

Buffalo keglers took over the pace-setting role in all three divisions of the New York State Bowling Tournament in Brooklyn yesterday.

Toddy's Girl of Buffalo came through with a sizzling 3009-3252 to gain the top rung in the five-man event; Leonard Rockna and Stan Wardak, also of Buffalo, seized the lead in the doubles with 1281-1389, while Al Young, of Syracuse, went into first place in the singles with 719-773.

The 719 was the state championship's highest net score in eight years.

Another up-state tandem, that of James Donofrio and Armand Giannone of Auburn, gained second place in the doubles with 1233-1371.

Tokyo, May 24 (AP)—A rising birth rate and falling death rate are contributing to Japan's population problem, General MacArthur noted today. A total of 79,340,000 people now live in the country.

Dick Chapman British Choice

Sandwich, England, May 24 (AP)—Former U.S. Champion Dick Chapman opens his bid today for the British Amateur golf championship—a hot favorite to win the crown he lost in the finals last year to fellow American Willie Turnesa.

Turnesa, White Plains, N. Y., member of a famous golfing family, is one of nine Americans in the field. He doesn't start his defense until Wednesday.

Chapman, the smooth-swinger from Pinehurst, N. C., was scheduled to tee off at 7 a. m. (E.S.T.) against W. R. P. Gronow of London.

Most observers have picked Chapman as the man to beat. The North Carolinian, playing top-flight golf ever since his arrival, set a new amateur record by shooting a 65 in the Sunningdale tournament last week.

Other Americans entered are Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio; Robert Sweeny, Jr., of New York, winner of the event in 1937; Staff Sgt. Charles Jennings of Medford, Mass.; Chris Dunphy of Westbury, N. Y., Frank Tatum Jr., Rhodes scholar of Los Angeles, and U. M. Reinach of New York. They all drew first round byes.

Pilotless Craft Kills Man After Mishap

New York, May 24 (AP)—An accident on the Hudson River involving a pilotless speedboat and a rowboat brought fatal injuries yesterday to one man while several hundred persons watched from shore.

The twin-propellor speedboat circled wildly, out of control, after its pilot, Abraham Kaufman, 32, was thrown into the water as the craft hit a high wave.

The speedboat roared erratically over the water for several minutes, struck and capsized a rowboat occupied by William McDermott, 48, and eventually skidded up the ramp of a boathouse landing.

Before it knifed into McDermott's boat, the speed craft cut a zig-zag course among other small boats and planes moored off shore.

McDermott, tossed overboard, was badly cut by blades of the speedboat propellers and died at a hospital five hours later.

Among those on shore was McDermott's wife.

Other boatmen, who put out from shore, rescued the speedboat pilot.

Cuneiform Writings Tell of 'Fallen Angel'

Philadelphia, May 24 (AP)—Five fragments of an inscribed Babylonian statue dating to about 1500 B.C. have disclosed the first mention known to literature of a "fallen angel" expelled from heaven, the University of Pennsylvania Museum said yesterday.

A partial translation of the inscription was completed by Prof. Samuel Noah Kramer, associate curator of the Babylonian section of the museum.

Kramer's partial translation referring to the "fallen angel" read: "Because their king (probably the Gid Enlil) had punished the Gods Anunnaki (because) he had put them out of the chamber of all the lands out of Heaven.. . ."

Dr. Froelich Rainey, director of the museum, said the translation has been accepted by the two Iraq scholars with whom Kramer had been working and has been published in Bagdad.

The director said the fragments were from an inscribed statue of a king named Kurlialzu which was raised by the king in a city 20 miles west of Modern Bagdad.

The cuneiforms used in the inscription were in the difficult Sumeriang language which Dr. Rainey said has been "a dead language, reserved for literary and religious use" for 500 years before the inscription was written.

Chauffeur Licenses Expire on May 31

Many chauffeur licenses expire on May 31 and holders of licenses which expire on that date may not legally operate vehicles after that date. Deputy County Clerk Edgar J. Dempsey, in charge of the Motor Vehicle Bureau office for Ulster county, cautions all chauffeurs to renew their licenses before expiration date. Application blanks are now available at the local office on Main street.

To renew chauffeur licenses two photographs are necessary.

Beginning this year there will be no more one-year licenses issued, either chauffeur, operator or junior. In future all licenses are issued for a three-year period.

Democrat . . .

cago last week as saying he isn't going to give public support to either the Republican or Democratic nominee for president.

Throws Cold Water

This seemed to throw cold water on a back stage move by friends of some Republican and Democratic hopefuls to get the Columbia University president to take sides in favor of their man.

It was somewhat pleasing, however, to the southerners who think they might be able to push Eisenhower over at the Democratic Convention.

This possibility — remote as it seems to most politicians—was reported to have been given serious study by some of the backers of Senator Robert A. Taft in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

In this connection, the Taft camp was credited with spurring the latest move to get Gen. Douglas McArthur home to testify before the Senate appropriations Committee on far eastern conditions before the June 21 Republican nomination.

Some Congressional sources say the supreme commander will come back if sufficiently urged, even though he turned down a previous bid from house members.

Might Support Taft

The Taft backers apparently think that MacArthur—with eight delegates backing him in Wisconsin, two in Illinois, and scattered strength elsewhere — might be inducted to support Taft publicly if the General concludes he can't win the nomination himself.

The Taft camp admits privately that a chief worry is the feeling among some convention delegates that the Ohio Senator might not be able to win in November if nominated.

The possibility of Eisenhower's being picked at the later Democratic convention already is being used against them, Taft's backers say. Hence they would like to have MacArthur in their corner as a security hedge in the delegate's minds.

The Taft people said their fear of a convention blitz by Harold E. Stassen was eased by the victory of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in last week's Oregon primary.

But what they gained there, they lost in new worry about the New York governor's regained strength.

Dewey Strengthens Stand

Besides the 12 presidential nominating votes he picked up in Oregon, Dewey apparently shored up some of his weak spots elsewhere. This seemed particularly true in the south, where he and Taft have been fighting for delegations that like to ride a winner.

Stassen's supporters tried to roll with the Oregan punch with claims that the Minnesotain had registered more popular support in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon primaries than any other candidate.

Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.) said in a statement that Stassen had won 52 delegates to Dewey's 17 in the four states. This claim did not take into account reports that Nebraska's 15 would be split up.

The concensus here is that Stassen has lost his bandwagon appeal and must fight it out at the convention just like any other candidate on the basis of delegate strength he can roll up in the early balloting.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg was marked down as a potential beneficiary of the Oregon outcome—on the general assumption that if Stassen can't get first prize himself he would be most likely to turn what backing he can to the Michigan senator.

In week-end delegate picking, Connecticut's 19-man G.O.P. slate was pledged to Senator Raymond E. Baldwin as a favorite son. Baldwin has been boomed in his home state as a vice presidential possibility.

Utah's 11 delegates were uninstructed, and Dewey, Stassen and Taft appear to have support within the delegation in that order.

Nevada Democrats instructed their 10 delegates to vote for Mr. Truman on the first three ballots. Thereafter the slate would be unpledged.

Only the KAISER and FRAZER have it!

Some "NEW" cars are like this seatroom but no headroom

and some "NEW" cars are like this headroom but no seatroom

but only the KAISER and FRAZER are like this plenty of headroom!

plenty of seatroom!

TRUE FUNCTIONAL DESIGN

True Functional Design is beauty with a purpose. For example, the STREAM-THRU fenders of the Kaiser or the Frazer are a style feature others have attempted to copy. But the real reason for the design has been overlooked. The true function is to provide more usable space without increasing over-all width. Only the Kaiser and the Frazer have more usable space. MORE SEAT WIDTH! . . . MORE HEAD ROOM! . . . MORE LUGGAGE SPACE! The Kaiser and the Frazer aren't the same old girls in a new dress—they're new from the road up! Best of all these modern cars from Willow Run are yours at no increase in price!

New Paltz Woman Dies on Way Home From the Theatre

Mrs. Arthur Bennett, 68, of Oakwood Terrace, New Paltz, died suddenly while on her way home from the New Paltz theatre Sunday night. Her death, according to the state police, was due to a coronary condition.

Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill gave a verdict of death due to natural causes, the report said.

Mrs. Bennett collapsed on the street while on her way home from the theatre, the police said, and was taken to the office of Dr. Virgil DeWitt, where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Sgt. Arthur Reilly of the State Police B.C.I., made the police investigation. It was reported that Mrs. Bennett had suffered a stroke about seven months ago.

Bridget Waters Awaits Deportation Anxiously

New York, May 24 (AP) — An Irish war bride, convicted of slaying her American husband, was at Ellis Island today awaiting deportation to England — eager to get back home "to work and forget."

The woman, pretty, 32-year-old Bridget Waters, paroled recently from Nevada State Prison after serving 18 months of a one to five year term, said she was grateful "for American justice" and for "all the kindness" shown her.

A condition of her parole was that she be deported to England.

She arrived yesterday in New York from Nevada in the custody of the wife of a Nevada prison warden and was turned over to immigration officials.

With Mrs. Waters was her three-year-old son, Frank Waters, Jr.

She and her husband, a Las Vegas bank teller, were married while he was a civilian technician overseas. She followed him to the United States and successfully contested a divorce suit he had filed.

The fatal shooting occurred in September, 1946.

She claimed at her trial that she shot her husband because she feared he was going to harm their son.

Funds for her defense were contributed by residents of Nevada communities and by British citizens.

Suspect Is Held

New York, May 24 (AP)—Trapped by a pretty policewoman who looks like a bobbysoxer, a 200-pound, six-foot-two Negro was in jail today on suspicion of raping 15 white women in recent weeks. Police used Miss Catherine Barry as bait early yesterday in catching the suspect in Manhattan's Morningside Park. Fifteen women who have reported being raped by a knife-wielding man were called to police headquarters today to view the suspect.

OrangeGrand Jury Returns 19 Writs

Indictments Are Sealed, Two No Bills Are Handed Up

Newburgh, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—The Orange county grand jury returned 19 sealed indictments today at the end of a 14-week investigation of vice and gambling conditions in the county.

Four of the indictments were for felonies. The jury also handed up two no bills, indicating a failure to indict two persons against whom evidence was presented.

Names of those indicted will not be revealed until they are arrested.

The jury, which originally was called for the February term of court, said in a report that "little or no aid has been forthcoming from the citizenry as a whole. It is apparent that in this type of investigation the public are loath to act as informers."

Only five of the 129 witnesses heard appeared willingly, the report said.

Two of the witnesses called before the jury were newspapermen whose subsequent jailing for refusal to reveal confidential sources attracted nation-wide attention.

They were Douglas V. Clarke, 33, news editor of the Newburgh News, and Charles L. Leonard, reporter for the paper, who declined to tell the jury where they obtained lottery tickets reproduced in the paper.

There were released after spending five days in jail and a later Supreme Court ruling held that their fines and sentences were illegal. The grand jury's report did not refer to the incident.

The report said that the body "feels that the police departments (in the county) may be criticised to some extent for laxity. On the other hand, it is also cognizant of the fact that enforcement of unpopular law or laws which in the eyes of a large majority of the people do not involve moral turpitude as a difficult and thankless one."

The indictments and report were handed to Supreme Court Justice James W. Bailey by Alfred Booth of Campbell Hall, jury foreman and District Attorney Stanley E. Johnson.

Cubber's Pow Wow Held at New Paltz; Thatcher Attends

A training program on four phases of cub scouting known as a "Cubber's Pow Wow," was given at the State Teachers' College, New Paltz, Sunday by the leadership training committee of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The program lasted from 2:30 to 8:30 p. m. and a Blue and Gold dinner, similar to the traditional cub dinners of February was served in the evening by the adults of Pack 31, Centerville.

The committee was headed by Harold Van Voorhis of Saugerties and Thomas Duffield of Ellenville was chairman of the day.

Instructions were given on administration, ceremonies, games and handcraft with Joel Bolotin of Ellenville in charge of the first, Ray Quackenbush, Saugerties, heading the second, and Charles Boardman of Catskill in charge of games.

Edward J. "Ned" Thatcher of Woodstock, one of the nation's most widely known craftsmen, assisted Kenneth Paxton of West Hurley in the handicraft demonstrations.

A group of 50 attended the pow wow, which was the second of its kind held, and it was agreed to hold another next year.

Cotton Takes Drop

New York, May 24 (AP)—A break of as much as $5.05 a bale struck the New York Cotton Market today as the federal government temporarily halted exports under the Marshall Plan, but the lower prices attracted domestic buying and cotton started a rebound. At the bottom of the break, futures at New Orleans were off $3.80 to $5.50 a bale.

Drunken Driving Charged

Charles Campion, 41, of Stattsburg was arrested early this morning by Sgt. Arthur Reilly of the State Police B.C.I. on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was booked at the county jail at 1:20 a. m. Hearing is slated to be held before Peace Justice John O. Beaver of Esopus May 26.

Voters Favor Central School Proposal in District Poll

By a vote of 846 to 294, with one spoiled and two blank ballots, the voters of the proposed Central School District No. 1, of the towns of Olive, Shandaken, Woodstock, and Marbletown in Ulster county and Lexington in Greene county on Friday voted to form a Central School district.

With a total of 1143 votes cast between 3 and 8:30 p. m., the proposal was carried and following the affirmative vote a meeting was then called and nine members of the Board of Education were named. Under an agreement which had been discussed, three of the nine member Board were named from each of the towns of Shandaken, Olive and Woodstock, the towns in which the greater portion of the new district lies.

Present at the meeting was Dr. Francis E. Griffin, chief of the Bureau of Rural Administrative Service, State Department of Education, who was present in an advisory capacity.

The vote was held at the Mt. Tremper Grange Hall in Mt. Tremper. Reginald F. Bennett of Chichester is District Superintendent of the supervisory district.

Members of Board

The nine members of the Board of Education who will guide the activities of the Central District after July first when the district officially comes into being are:

Justus North of Shokan, Harlow C. McLean of West Shokan, Albert Fox, Jr., of Olive Bridge, all from the town of Olive; Leonard Ford of Shandaken, Philip Gordon of Phoenicia, Fred D. Cure of Pine Hill, all from the town of Shandaken and Herman Carl of Lake Hill, Harry D. Ostrander of Willow and Lester N. Shultis of Wittenberg, in the town of Woodstock.

At the meeting for election of members of the Board of Education Fred D. Cure acted as chairman; Mrs. Mabel Wiedner of West Shokan was vice-chairman. Mrs. Rose Burgher of West Shokan was clerk of the meeting and Mrs. Burgher was assisted by several persons. Tellers recorded the vote of the taxpayers.

While the Central District will not become officially into being until July first when the Board of Education will take over the duties of the district, there are certain duties which the board may assume now. One is the organization of the Board of Education and an organization meeting will be held within the next couple of weeks at which time a president of the Board of Education will be selected by the members, a clerk will be appointed, a collector, treasurer and supervising principal will also be named. The matter of hiring a school nurse for the district will also be taken up in the near future.

Once the Board is organized and begins to function the matter of employment of an architect will be an order of business. While the actual construction of a school building at a central point in the district may not be undertaken for a considerable period of time, plans will be sought and work along this line taken up.

It is expected that perhaps six to eight months may be required for the preparation of preliminary plans and the securing of approval of such plans by the State Department of Education.

Acquisition of a suitable site for the future building will also be a duty of the Board of Education. Since the institution of the proposal to form a Central School District it has been stated that the logical site for a new building for the district would be on the flats at some point between Mt. Tremper and Boiceville.

The meeting for election of a board of education was called Friday evening shortly after 8:30 o'clock when it had been definitely established that the central school district project had been approved by the voters of the affected districts. Chairman Cure called for election of the board and the nine-member board was named from the three major townships which will be affected by the centralization plan. The towns of Lexington in Greene county and Marbletown in Ulster county will be only slightly affected by the centralization plan, since only a small portion of these townships lie within the bounds of the new central district.

Meat Handlers Return

Chicago, May 24 (AP) — C.I.O. meat handlers streamed back to work today at a majority of the major packing company's plants. Only at the seven plants of Wilson and Company, Cudahy Packing Co., Kansas City, and a few independent houses where contract details were being settled did pickets continue on duty. Twenty pickets marched at the gates of Wilson's Chicago plant, and strike leaders claimed few workers had entered the premises.

with General Motors expires Friday after a month's extension.

All hope was not abandoned, however. Negotiators for the union and G.M. went back into action in an effort to find a basis for agreement over the wage issue.

The U.A.W. demands a 25 cents an hour increase, offering to turn 15 cents of this into a pension fund if G.M. agrees.

General Motors has made public no counter offer.

From Chrysler the union demands 30 cents. In the auto industry the production worker's general pay average is $1.50 an hour.

In the meantime the U.A.W. went ahead with its formal membership strike vote among 83 General Motors locals representing the more than 90 G.M. plants in the nation.

One variation from the reported trend of a strong majority vote for a strike took place yesterday. The 15,000 member Buick Local 599 of Flint, Mich., heart of G.M.'s system, voted against a strike, rejecting a plea from Emil Mazey, the International U.A.W.'s secretary - treasurer and acting president.

The U.A.W. said Saturday, however, that 80 per cent of the vote in locals so far has favored a walkout. At that time about 50 locals had voted, a union spokesman said.

Reporting Local 599's tally, Burt Moore, elections committee chairman, said 4,343 votes were cast with 2,966 against a strike.

An affirmative membership vote would give the U.A.W. leadership authority to call a strike at its "discretion."

Even without this country, however, the U.A.W. has raised the possibility of a G.M. shutdown this week-end with the extended contract's expiration. Such a step would be taken under a no contract, no work"—stand.

caught in Arab-Jewish cross fire behind the consulate.

A third American, Thomas Gannon, veteran consulate guard, was shot in the back May 16.

In Ba'albek, Lebanon, 69 young Jews, most of whom declared openly they wanted to fight for Israel, are fretting in a Lebanese internment camp. There are 41 Americans and three Canadians in the group.

They were interned after Lebanese authorities removed them last Wednesday from the American vessel Marine Carp, bound for Haifa, Israel.

The State Department announced in Washington that Lebanon had rejected a U. S. demand for release of the 41 American citizens.

Elsewhere throughout the Holy Land bitter fighting continued, with both sides claiming victories.

Accounts conflicted on the outcome of the fierce battle at Ramat Rehel, half way between Jerusalem and Bethlehem.

The Arab command said 300 Jews were killed when Arabs took the village, traditional location of Rachel's tomb and control point of the main road from the south.

Arabs Driven Out

A Jewish military bulletin said Arabs entered the village but were driven out leaving "tends of bodies" in the field. The communique said 12 Jews were killed.

Control of Ramat Rehel apparently would be necessary for any sizeable movement of Egyptians into Jerusalem.

The Jews claimed other successes.

The Israeli army in Haifa said its troops had cleared the vital Palestine coastal road from the Lebanese border to Tel Aviv, 75 miles to the south.

The road clearing operation involved the capture of Ras En Maqura, a Palestine customs and police post on the Lebanese frontier, which the Arabs occupied shortly after the British mandate May 15.

It also involved the taking of the Arab village of Tantura, south of Haifa.

The Jews now are reported to hold all western Galilee, linking Tiberias to the Mediterranean. Jewish forces also are reported to be driving on Er Ramle and Lydda, important transportation centers southeast of Tel Aviv.

The Arabs made claims of their own.

A Cairo newspaper dispatch said Egyptian troops operating along the Palestine coast had launched an attack against a Jewish settlement about five miles north of Majdal. This would place the Egyptians about 23 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, the Israel center, and about four miles south of the coastal area assigned the new state under the United Nations partition plan.

A Syrian communique denied Jewish claims that Israel's troops had reoccupied Samakh on the southern shore of the Sea of Galilee. The bulletin added that Syrian artillery sank one vessel and destroyed another on Galilee. It said Syrian planes attacked Jewish settlements south of the sea.

In Amman the Arab high command said Egyptian planes in their raids on Tel Aviv had bombed gasoline depots, iron and oxygen plants and the Skoda Works in the southern section of the city.

Two Die in Plunge

Chicago, May 24 (AP)—An attorney and his wife plunged nine floors to death early today from their north side hotel room. They were Harry Grundy, 49, and Lourena, 48, of 631 S. Webster street, Taylorville, Ill. The bodies struck the sidewalk in front of the Commonwealth Hotel at 2757 Pine Grove avenue, a foot apart after crashing through window pane and screen of their room's window. Grundy's body was clad in pajamas, that of his wife wrapped in a housecoat. Her shattered wrist watch stopped at 5:35 o'clock.

Ann Corio Stars in Opening Playhouse Vehicle June 22

Woodstock, May 24—With a list of favorite Hollywood stars including Monty Wooley, Brian Ahearn, Mischa Auer and many others listed for subsequent appearances this summer, the Woodstock Playhouse will open its summer schedule Tuesday night, June 22, with Ann Corio, Broadway entertainer, starring in the vehicle, "Sailor Beware."

This was announced today by Michael Lienthal, manager, who said that the plays would run again for 12 weeks.

Other hits scheduled for the Playhouse include Lillian Gish in "Marquise" by Noel Coward; Mischa Auer will appear in "Jailer's Wench," Sylvia Sidney in "Kind Lady," Monty Wooley, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and Brian Ahearn in "Beau Strategem."

Plus these outstanding hits, the management is endeavoring to obtain the personal appearances of Conrad Nagel, film star and more recently of the radio; Gene Raymond, and Ruth Chatterton.

Selected by Audiences

The choice of plays and players for this season is a result of a survey conducted last summer among the patrons of the Playhouse. Cards were issued last year to the audiences inquiring of the plays the people desired to see.

Michael Sivy and Althea Murphy will again head the resident company at the Playhouse. It will also include Joseph Leon, Lou Fredericks, Heshong and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mele.

It also was announced today that improved exit facilities and ventilation will be available at the Playhouse this summer.

Linenthal spent the winter in Boston where he has been engaged in the organization of the Boston Repertory Association. He has been working with Gerald Savory, president of the group. The association, according to Linenthal, will present plays beginning in the fall and hopes to parallel the achievements of the famous "Old Vic" in London.

Flanagans' to Close

Flanagans' men's clothing store on Wall street will close at 1 o'clock on Tuesday and remain closed for the balance of the day out of respect to the memory of Alderman Paul Zucca, who for many years was employed at the store. Funeral services for Mr. Zucca, who died suddenly Friday evening, will be held Tuesday at 2 o'clock from the A. Carr & Son Funeral Parlors on Pearl street.

Moose Compile List of Donors

Kingston Lodge to Keep Records at Office

A list of members willing to donate blood to those in need of transfusions is being compiled by Kingston Lodge No. 970, Loyal Order of Moose, according to Stanley Setera, governor.

The list, with donors classified as to blood type, will be kept at the office of the secretary at the Moose lodge, and donors will be provided when called upon. Transfusions will be given to all persons, regardless of race, creed or color, in emergencies, although members of the Moose lodge will receive priority.

Junior Past Governor Anthony J. Erena was authorized to compile the list by unanimous vote of members present at the regular lodge meeting last week.

In urging the establishment of this practice, Erena told the members that the blood bank in Kingston is at present much lower than it has been for several years past. He said that the lodge in adopting the measure would be performing a valuable service to the community and would furnish an example which he hopes will be followed by other organizations.

Erena said he plans to have a doctor at a future meeting to take blood tests and determine the type of blood of all members willing to become donors who do not already have donor cards.

May 30 Basis for Awarding Prizes In Cancer Drive

The amount given in the cancer drive to May 30 and the number of contributors up to the same date will be used as the basis for awarding prizes, Eugene B. Carey, chairman of the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society, announced today.

Entries to the Pot of Prizes and Goal contests will be accepted during this week if post-marked before midnight May 30. Arrangements are being made to draw the prizes and they will be announced when completed.

Contributions will be received in June, although entries to the contests close May 30, it was also announced.

All contributions or entries to the contests should be mailed to Oscar J. Lawatsch, Treasurer, Ulster County Cancer Drive, care of the State of New York National Bank, Kingston.

Porch Is Damaged

The porch on his home was slightly damaged about 8:45 p. m. Saturday when a car backed over the curb and into his yard, striking the porch, Arthur Lawrence of 57 Cedar street reported to the police. Lawrence told police the driver of the car was James W. Smith of R.F.D. 3, Kingston, who agreed to have the damage repaired.

Jews Will Hold One-Day Pickup of Needed Supplies

The annual one-day drive for food, clothing, and medical supplies for Jewish survivors overseas will be conducted on June 6 this year by the Kingston Jewish Community Council. A house-to-house canvass of all Jewish homes in the city will be made on that day.

The drive, known as the S.O.S., or Supplies for Overseas Survivors, is sponsored by the Joint Distribution Committee in more than 1,000 cities in the United States.

Tomorrow every Jewish home in Kingston will receive a paper bag to be filled with canned food for the collection. Canned food especially desired is milk, fish, fruit, fruit juices, vegetable fats, hard candy, cocoa, coffee, tea and dehydrated foods.

Clean wearing apparel in good condition for men, women and children is also sought and should be packed separately. Shoes should be tied in pairs. Other items needed are blankets, sheets and towels, as well as such medical supplies as band-aids, iodine, vitamin tablets, toothpaste, soap and candles.

The S.O.S. supplies supplement the regular relief and rehabilitation programs of the Joint Distribution Committee which are made possible by the United Jewish Appeal.

Last year Kingston was one of the cities in the country that exceeded its quota in this drive.

Will Get Petticoats

Newark, N. J., May 24 (AP)—When skirts become transparent, the new look becomes a leer—and that, according to Public Safety Director John B. Keenan, creates a problem. Keenan ordered a local hotel to have its shapely waitresses wear petticoats beneath their transparent, long skirts. "I'm not inferring that the * * * show—and it is just that—is in any way indecent. But it cannot help but create a police problem, and we have enough of them now." The hotel said it would comply with Keenan's order. Its waitresses would have the new look all right but it wouldn't be penetrating. "We'll get petticoats for them," the hotel announced. "The girls will be fully clothed."

Ulster Hose Meeting

Ulster Hose Company, No. 5, will hold an adjourned meeting at the engine house on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Due to the carnival which was playing last week, the regular meeting was postponed until this week.
